

The Fashionable Norfolk Suit To be Worn This Autumn

TWO OF THE LATEST FALL MODELS

Norfolk styles will be worn throughout the autumn and winter. In fact, the Norfolk coat makes an important wardrobe item. As it is generally becoming, it is sure to find a welcome and the coat with a yoke and coat without a yoke are equally correct. In the illustration are shown two costumes. Both give the slender silhouette and the straight lines that remain essential to fashion, but both skirts are wide enough for comfort. They are made with the overlapped edges, that are the smartest of all things.

The suit to the left is made of cheviot in tobacco brown, for brown is to be much worn throughout the coming season. The skirt consists of just three pieces, and the front portions are finished and overlapped to suggest the flap of an envelope, but the back is plain. The coat is exceedingly smart. The box plaits are applied over seams that insure a satisfactory fit without difficulty, and the patch pockets are quite new and distinctive. Buttons make an important feature of all fall costumes. These are simple, but handsome, being made of bone in shades of brown, but a great many different buttons are being worn and buttons of the material with metal rims. The costume idea seems to suggest buttons in groups, but these groups can be arranged in any way to suit the individual taste.

For the medium size the coat will require 5 yards of material 27, 3 yards 44 or 2 yards 52 inches wide; the skirt 4 1/2 yards 27 or 2 1/2 yards 44 or 2 1/2 yards 52 inches wide. The skirt can be finished at either the high or the natural waist line, and both are in good style.

The second costume is shown in one of the new herringbone chevrons with the severe stitched finish and buttons used on the coat only. The skirt shows the overlapped effect at both front and back, but is made in four pieces with a seam over each hip. The coat is fitted by means of seams that extend to the shoulders, and plaits are applied over the seams. The herringbone cheviot is always a good material for autumn, but this season is to see a great many different fabrics worn. Worsteds, serge and whitehead of good quality are exceedingly smart, and there are certain novelties offered that are in every way attractive. Trimmings of plaid or plain color is much liked, and either of these suits could be finished with collar and cuffs of plaid or other contrasting material in the very handsome. Later styles will be much used, but for the early season it seems a little wary.

For the medium size the coat will require 5 yards of material 27, 3 yards 44 or 2 yards 52 inches wide; for the skirt will be required 5 yards 27 or 2 1/2 yards 44 or 2 1/2 yards 52 inches wide. If the material has neither nap nor nap 1 1/2 yards 27 or 2 1/2 yards 44 or 2 1/2 yards 52 inches wide will be needed. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is two yards.

FOR TRAVELING

THE DUTCH NIGHTCAP

When traveling nowadays one wears the loosely arranged night cap with a becoming high collar. The charming little bit of headgear illustrated is part of a September costume and is made of white wool, plaid lace, blue ribbons and little silk roses also light blue in color.

IN THE PICKLE SEASON

Recipes That Can be Recommended

Pickles are not classed as hygienic, but in spite of this, gastrologists say they are eaten by everybody and are extremely enjoyed by the members of almost every household, but there are pickles and pickles, and the following recipes can be thoroughly recommended:

Green Sour Pickles

Take a quart of salt to a peck of green tomatoes, six large onions and four or five heads of cabbage. Put in a stone jar in layers, with salt, cover with cold water and let stand overnight. In the morning drain off the water, wash and again pour over the vegetables. Let stand overnight, then drain. Sauté enough vinegar to cover the pickles, and four green or red peppers, two tablespoons of whole cloves and a piece of horseradish. Add the pickles and when scalded serve in jars.

Mangoes

Cut the tops from one dozen red and one dozen green peppers. Remove the seeds and save the tops. Stand peppers upright in a tub, put a teaspoonful of salt in each one, cover with cold water and soak twenty-four hours. Drain, cut two large heads of cabbage in a cabbage cutter, add to this one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one teaspoonful of ground allspice, four teaspoonfuls of whole mustard and two tablespoonfuls of salt. Mix thoroughly. Stuff the peppers with this mixture. Put on the tops and tie tightly. Stand them upright in stone jars and cover with cold vinegar. Mangoes are also made from peaches and small melons.

Pickled Onions

Four boiling brine over the small onion, let them stand twenty-four hours, then drain and cover with hot vinegar spiced to taste.

French Pickles

Slice in an earthen jar one peck of green tomatoes, six large onions and four or five heads of cabbage. Let them stand twenty-four hours and drain. Add one quart of vinegar, three pounds of sugar, one-fourth of a pound of white mustard seed, one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one of ginger, two of mustard, one of cayenne pepper and cook slowly for fifteen minutes.

Chowchow

Boil one head of cauliflower, one quart of string beans and one quart of button onions separately until tender. Cover one quart of them with vinegar with strong salt water and soak twenty-four hours. Then mix all together. Put one-half gallon of vinegar in a porcelain lined kettle. Mix one-half ounce each of turmeric and mustard together and moisten them with a little cold vinegar, stir them into the hot vinegar, stirring constantly until the vinegar begins to thicken, then add one cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of mustard seed

FOR AUTUMN

SUIT OF GRAY SERGE

Dark gray is going to be very much worn this autumn, and the chic little suit pictured is of stone gray serge with trimmings of fur and braid of the same shade. A black hat trimmed with gray and black calf boots with gray suede buttoned tops complete the costume.

HOW TO AVOID CORNS

A Very Simple Method for Prevention

There is so much said concerning the curse of corns that the "ounce of prevention" is frequently overlooked. It is only partly true that corns are caused from badly fitted shoes. Americans have the best fitting footwear in the world and the worst corns. European peasants have the worst shoes in the world and hardly any corns. If an ill fitting shoe is to be blamed for everything, what ought the condition of the French or German peasant to be who wears a whittled out log of a shoe and stuffs straw in it to keep his feet warm?

It has been found out that corns are due primarily to accumulation of dead skin upon the foot, setting up a point of contact and irritation, which finally becomes inflamed, and frequently the inflammation becomes chronic. But it need never have started. Dead skin accumulates because the foot is shut out from air and there, while more skin is being grown underneath all the time, there is no process of removal from the outside. This has a double effect. Not only does the skin become thick, but also the dry, scuffy skin does not allow the perspiration to pass through, and this being stopped in its natural channels adds to the inflammation that has already begun. With the skin of the foot in this unhealthy condition, the pressure of the shoe readily sets up a morbid process, and the corn is under way, says a well known chiropodist.

Fortunately there is a simple method for the prevention of corns, and if this was used by mothers for their children and carried out throughout life it would almost drive the chiropodist out of business. Coupled with the wearing of ill shoes it would do so entirely. This method of prevention consists of rubbing the foot hard with a coarse towel after changing stockings at the end of the day. The skin of the foot may be a little tender at first, but this is the surest sign that the treatment is necessary. It will almost entirely prevent the acquirement of corns, and even to those who are afflicted it will be found of the greatest benefit, for it will keep the pores of the skin of the foot well open and in this way relieve the congestion around the inflamed point.

The simple device of having two eyelet holes put in the shoe on the inner side of the arch of the foot for all shoes except heavy footwear is also an aid in this precaution. Any robber can put them in. It is a great pity that more care is not taken of the feet, for many an illness has proved fatal which otherwise would not have been so but for the fact that for many years the resisting power of the constitution has been sapped by the unceasing consciousness of pain.

WAS SHOT BY REJECTED SUITOR

Girl is in a Serious Condition and is Not Expected to Live—Man Admits Shooting

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Miss Gertrude, 26 years old, of 106 Boston avenue, Somerville, was shot three times and dangerously wounded at 2:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon by John H. Trainor, 35 years old, of 9 Harvard street, Charlestown, in the basement packing room of a Tremont street store where she was employed.

Trainor, who had recently been jailed by the girl, was overpowered by persons in the store and turned over to the police. He refused to give any explanation of his act. The injured young woman was taken to the Relief hospital in an ambulance and her condition is critical.

A panic was caused by the shooting among the shoppers in the crowded store. Saleswomen and customers dropped behind counters or fled from the vicinity of the man who held the smoking pistol. The man had entered the store a few minutes before and walked to the room where Miss Jordan was employed. He found the young woman seated at her desk. She was writing and did not see him.

Fires Three Quick Shots

Without speaking or otherwise attracting her attention, Trainor drew a revolver, stepped close to Miss Jordan, fired three shots in quick succession and threw the pistol to the floor. He then stepped back to the wall, making no effort to escape.

Above the shrieks of the frightened customers could be heard the cry of the wounded girl. "Oh, Mr. Thomas, Mr. Thomas, I've been shot," she called as she fell. John T. Thomas, foreman of the packing room, who was standing nearby, sprang to her aid. At the same moment, William Herenstein, of 22 Forbes street, Jamaica Plain, an employee in the store, sprang over some boxes and seized Trainor, who quietly requested Herenstein not to become excited.

Some of the excited girls in the basement rushed to the street and notified Crossing Officer John J. O'Brien at Tremont and School streets. Officer O'Brien ran into the store and placed the assailant under arrest. Trainor was booked at station 2 and held to await the outcome of the girl's injuries.

Later the man was taken to the Relief hospital, where Miss Jordan lies in a room with her assailant. He is now placed at her and said, "Hello, Gertrude." In the police station he admitted that he had shot the girl and said he "knew what was coming to him." He admitted being a drug user and habitual cigar smoker.

"There was no jealousy to it at all," he said when questioned as to his motive.

ALLEGED KIDNAPPER IDENTIFIED

Roxbury Child Accuses Man of Detaining Her in a House

All Night

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—After a year-old child, Catherine Dalton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dalton of Winslow street, Roxbury, had pointed out a house as the place where she had been detained for a night against her will, police of the Dudley street station yesterday afternoon arrested John A. McDonald, 35 years old, of 8 Forest street, Roxbury. At the station house he was detained by the child as the stranger who had kept her from her home Monday afternoon.

When the child returned to her home yesterday morning, after her parents had been driven almost frantic during the night by the future of the child, she told her father that she could find the place where she had been confined. She then conducted her father and a policeman to the Forest street house.

Learning that McDonald was employed on city work at Summer and E streets, South Boston, Police Officer McCarthy and Ryan were sent to take him into custody. After the child identified him as the kidnapper, he was taken to the station house and held for a night.

The child returned to her home yesterday morning. Her father had just left his home to know the search for the child when he met her on Eddis street, hurrying towards home. She ran to him with a cry of delight, and throwing herself into his arms, snatched him with kisses.

Meanwhile the stranger who had taken her away the previous afternoon was seen by neighbors of the Dalton family leaving the girl on Dinsbury street, Mrs. Margaret Perry and her son, Arthur, of 2 Winslow street, started in pursuit, and then called several other officers. The chase led down Esplanade street, through Dearborn, but the elusive man eluded them on Ludlow street.

When little Catherine was taken to her home her mother declared that she was dazed with hunger and fright. Except for a few bits of candy the child had eaten nothing since Monday noon. She told how the stranger had forced her to go with him, promising her candy and ice cream. When it became dark, the child started to cry, but her captor notably ordered her to be still.

Except for her hunger and the fright occasioned by the night in a strange house away from her parents, the little girl appeared to be none the worse for her experience. She spent most of yesterday playing with her younger brothers.

MAN TRIED SUICIDE

Richard Lahey Attempted to End His Life by Drowning in Lawrence Last Night

LAWRENCE, Sept. 4.—Richard Lahey, 35, residing at 2 Park street, last night jumped into the South canal, near the paper mill, and was rescued by men at a railroad crossing near the canal. He had been sick and had been taken to his home and later removed to the police station for safe keeping.

Lahey had been sick and it is said he had been struggling for a week or two. When he left his home about last night he was with his wife. He intended to jump into the canal. She noticed the police and officers Doherty and Richardson went to the scene. They followed the canal to the spot where he had been rescued, arriving just as he was taken to his home.

He had been sick and his wife had been taking him to the hospital. He had been in the hospital for several days. He was taken to his home and later removed to the police station for safe keeping.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

THE FEATURES OF CONSTRUCTION

Deciding Factors in Motor Car Sales—Several Cars Sold During Past Week

Time-tried features of construction are the deciding factors in motor car sales. Importance of seemingly secondary points in design. It will probably surprise prospective motor car buyers to learn that novelties of design and construction are not considered as inducements to the purchase of one make or another but as much as the time-tried features are. The cars that have made good have done so because their designers got down to bedrock at the start. They studied and experimented until they hit the right mechanical principles and then they stuck to them.

Hundreds of automobiles passed through Lowell Sunday and Monday. Some on their way back from the White mountains, others occupied by people who were out for a one day or two day outing. Cars from various states throughout the country trailed their way through Merrimack square, and many of them had occasion to be stopped by the new Sun building waiting for electric cars enjoyed themselves by trying to ascertain from what states the different cars came.

As usual there were many auto accidents Monday and Tuesday before and several persons were killed and others were seriously hurt in this section of the state. Unfortunately a serious accident occurred Sunday near the railroad station in Woburn in which a Boston man was so badly hurt that it was necessary to amputate his right leg below the knee.

The Little Four, two passenger runabout which arrived in this city last week, is attracting considerable attention, and the popularity of the car will in all probability result in the sale of many during the coming season. The cars are on exhibition at the Lowell Automobile Corporation in Appleton street, and Mr. Milo Hale, the popular salesman, has at an open demonstration to local citizens and prospective purchasers of autos.

Charles E. Jeffrey, one of the best fellows who ever cranked an automobile or shipped the spark or gas lever over a quadrant, and a person who has operated an automobile at a rate of speed better than a mile a minute and who never met with an accident, owing to his careful operation, is in our midst again.

"Jeff"—that is the name that he is known by to his friends in this city, and he has hundreds of them—made his first appearance in Lowell when he piloted the police patrol to this city. Despite the fact that that was a short time ago he has risen from the ranks and his early experience and the two and one-half years that he spent with the Thomas Co. has made him one of the most able salesmen, demonstrators and operators in New England.

He has had many offers to sign contracts with various companies in order to drive racing cars, but he believes that it is safer to sell or demonstrate machines than to pilot them over the circuit track or in the road races.

Owing to his ability he accepted a very attractive offer from the Thomas Co. to operate a company, manufacturers of the Rambler automobiles, and his business in Lowell at the present time is to locate an agency with a local dealer for the sale of the Rambler car. If he succeeds in doing so, and there is no doubt but that he will, he will give his personal supervision to the care of the cars. A service station will also be stationed here, and if anything should happen to one of the cars the owners will receive prompt attention and good care.

In speaking about "Jeff" it is a rather peculiar coincidence that he spells his name "Jeffrey" and the firm for which he is working is spelled "Jeffery." There is no relation, whatsoever.

Mayor James E. O'Donnell is the proud possessor of a 24-horsepower Rambler runabout. It is known as a cross country roadster and is a beauty. It is also a powerful and graceful running car.

Mr. John P. Cunningham of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company has purchased a Rambler roadster and it will be delivered within a few days.

Edmund D. Talford of 2 Batchelder place, off Walker street, has been driving a Ford touring car through the streets of the Lowell Motor Mart in Merrimack street.

George E. Chase will soon be seen on the local streets with a Ford torpedo which has been delivered to him through the agency of the Lowell Motor Mart.

"Thousands of Americans never know their country until the advent of the motor car. Its Switzerland, its Rhine, its Italian lakes, were seen only in the news or verse of pioneers, who by wagon-trail, on horse, or in canoe had penetrated regions fair as Europe at her best can boast."

"From railway car window, the traveler might catch a glimpse of the spirit of discovery, the impulse to go into the back-country, to know its quiet byways, its hills and dales and bubbling streams, came with the automobile."

The above is the introduction of a very interesting booklet which is entitled "America From a Touring Car," which has been issued by the Touring Club of America. The brochure contains interesting descriptions of the most popular touring sections of the country, including "New England as a Touring Ground," "New Jersey Through Pennsylvania," "New York and the South," "Highways of the Middle West" and "Across the Rockies to the Golden Gate."

The automobile editor of The Sun is in receipt of one of these valuable books and is indebted to the Touring Club of America for its courtesy.

How to put to practical use the parts of an old automobile has been ingeniously worked out by an Oregon man on his country place, according to a description given in Motor World by a visitor who was astonished at some of the results. In the living room a "gray suit" of motor shape but obvious comfort turned out to be the tonneau of the old car. The leather of the seat was almost as good as new, the upholstery deep, and the settee was very roomy and inviting.

In his incubator house was a hot-water radiator which supplied the necessary heat in winter so that the heat within the incubator should not be too difficult, and this radiator was another part of the old car, the engine radiator connected up by pipes with the hot-water system of the house kitchen.

The old four-cylinder motor was set up in the basement and connected with a little dynamo, developing enough power to light the whole house. In order to obviate the necessity of running the motor and dynamo continuously, the owner had installed four accumulators or storage batteries which furnished the lighting current direct, and only needed occasional charging by the dynamo—an economical arrangement.

To manufacturers branching into the commercial car zone there is not any greater opportunity than that offered in the agricultural field for a gasoline tractor, selling at $1200 or $1500 at the outside, says The Automobile. Today the makers of agricultural tractors have been building for the $2500 field and up, and while the demand is large it is nothing compared with that for a machine of approximately half the price. A tractor selling for a little over $1000 has an unlimited field. Every owner of one-quarter section of land, 160 acres, and up is in the market for such a machine. They are in the market in this class because the present machine is too high priced for their holdings.

The expansion of many agricultural tracts is so great today that motor propelled machinery is the only solution. The people are waiting for the machine and the opportunity is offered as never before. The missionary work has already been done. For years the builders of steam engines entered to the agricultural field, but in a very limited sphere because of the excessive weight of the product. For decades the gasoline engine maker has been exploiting this fruitful territory, and for several seasons the interest has been sufficiently great to promote annual contests for the education of the agriculturists and greatly to the benefit of the maker. There is today a wider market for the 1000 tractor than there is for any type of pleasure car.

A motion picture showman, who travels from place to place, giving shows in a tent, has equipped his automobile with an electric plant for the operation of the motion picture machine and for the 45 electric lamps in and around the tent and on the automobile itself. The electric plant consists of a 10-volt slow-speed dynamo which runs at 700 revolutions per minute.

The owner of the outfit and his wife travel from town to town in the automobile, which has covered over 14,500 miles, and the tent, seats and other heavy equipment of the show are shipped by rail.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Open House

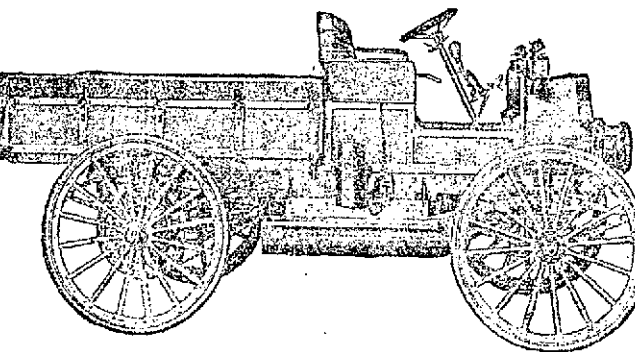

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," a four-act play taken from the novel of the same title written by John Fox and dramatized by Eugene Walter, and one which has met with great success everywhere throughout the country, gave the first of three performances at the Opera House last evening. If the people of the city appreciate a first class production and recognize one when they are given an opportunity of witnessing one that is even out of the ordinary, every seat in the Opera House should have been taken for the performance last evening. The attendance last evening, however, was not large for a company that played in crowded houses all last season but the theatre-going public have a chance to redeem themselves tonight as the performance and prevent managers from currying away the impression that the people of Lowell do not know or appreciate a first class play especially when it is as beautifully presented as this one certainly is. Those, however, who were fortunate enough to see last night's performance have undeniable evidence of their appreciation of the play.

The scenes are laid in the mountains of the south where the notorious "moonshiners" are known to make their haunts and the laws of civilization are poorly observed and very dimly known. The piece is a true character study of the inhabitants of those wild regions, where there are those bloody feuds, relics of barbarism. Following is the cast:

June Isabelle Rowe
John Hale, engineer at the Gap James Vincent
Bob Berkley, Hale's friend J. D. Peniston
Uncle Billy, justice of the peace John W. Rennie
Old Hun, his wife Eva Benton

Keith's Theatre
Theatregoers of this city have the chance of their lives to see eight of the cleanest, funniest, cleverest vaudeville acts which are playing at Keith's this week. The whole bill is quite up to the usual top-notch standard which the Keith house has always clung to in its efforts to please its patrons. Judging from the prolonged applause and many encores, the patrons were more than pleased with the performance of this week, for the house has been packed to the doors both afternoon and evening by people who appreciate and enjoy first-class vaudeville.

Every member of the cast carries his or her part in a very creditable manner. Miss Isabelle Rowe taking the part of June, won the hearts of all her audience, as her part is perhaps the most important as well as the most difficult one in the play. She is, therefore, the biggest factor in the success which the play has enjoyed and which it will doubtless continue to enjoy for another season.

Mr. James Vincent carries the part of Jack Hale to perfection and we cannot leave unmentioned the pleasing work of T. V. Morrison as Dave Tolliver, June's father, and J. D. Peniston as Bob Berkley, a friend of Jack Hale. In short the whole cast is deserving of great credit for the true manner in which they interpreted the "different parts" of this beautiful play.

The fact that the audience at the Opera House last night was a small one can be taken as nothing less than a reflection upon the tastes and love of dramatic art of the people of this city. The piece was more than "worthy" of a crowded house and it is hoped that all the seats for the two remaining performances will be taken. Once seen, it can never be forgotten, for it is in all truth one of the most beautiful stories and character descriptions which are today represented on the stage.

ALMA
May Latham enjoys the reputation of being one of the handsomest women on the American stage. It was this as much as her singing and acting ability that caused the management to en-

"A Leap Year Leap" is a delightful farce comedy, and especially so when it is presented by Willard Hutchinson and Rosamond Harrison. Miss Harrison, acting the part of Daisy Thulow, endeavors to help Mr. Hutchinson, who is the part of George Paxton, a very beautiful young man, to get up courage enough to propose to her. This gives the way for a number of decidedly funny situations and developments which Mr. Hutchinson sets forth in a manner that is infinitely.

Like other acts are all novel and pleasing and well rendered by clever artists. They are Willard C. Scottman, who has a "mug" act that has not been seen before; Wentworth, Vesia and Teddy in unique gymnastics and introducing their acrobatic dog; Jewette Childs, a very attractive and clever singing comedienne; and The Gagnaux, novelty jugglers, who have some new features along this line.

The entire bill is up to the standard way you take it, and is being seen daily and appreciated by a great number of local people who know good vaudeville. Phone 25 to the box office and order your tickets now, for they are in great demand.

The Playhouse
No expense has been spared in fitting up The Playhouse (formerly Hathaway Theatre) for its formal opening on Sept. 10. Kendall Weston, who has been confined at the Lowell hospital for some days, but who expects to resume his duties at the theatre in a day or two bears the entire reputation of being a real stickler for detail in carrying out all that goes in the making of a refined, up-to-date house of entertainment, and in his preparatory work thus far he has devoted himself more especially to these particular than ever before. The standard of Western productions in this city, as well as in all other theatrical centers where he has appeared, has been so far above the average performances of stock companies that naturally much local patrons will look for something of more artistic and satisfying nature than has been turned out in Lowell of late, and that they will not be disappointed goes without saying. The Drama Players is an organization of high-class actors and actresses whose successes of the past have been high in the theatrical profession, and who will undoubtedly meet with general approval here.

Merriam Square
One of the best balanced bills of the season is the week's offering at the Merriam Square theatre. Every act is of a superior quality and in combination make one of the cleverest programs yet gotten together by Manager Carroll.

Kenny and Hollis, those old favorites, are the headliners. These clever comedians are well known locally because of their former engagements here, but in their latest creation consisting of situations have been created with such cleverness and originality that they are bound to draw a large audience. Another act that has been highly recommended is the offering of "In Wrong," are presenting one of those few-and-a-half-reel really funny sketches. The Balla Bros. Mexican instrumentalists are artists on the string instruments, on which they play both the classical and popular airs, Edna and Harrington & Sons, come to the bill, while the pictures compare favorably with any ever shown in the city.

Lakeview Park
The free outside attraction this week is a novel skating act, presented by Steele and McManis, two excellent roller skate artists. They excel in every kind of balancing, gliding and fancy trick skating, and draw a great applause by their daring feats. They go through all manner of absurd antics, and water skating, full speed, and preserve their equilibrium with marvelous skill and grace.

The finale of the act is a daring springboard somersault and makes a sensational finish for a meritorious performance.

This act is given twice daily at 1.15 and 8.15 evenings.

The M. T. L. Bachelor Girls
A largely attended meeting of the M. T. L. Bachelor Girls was held last evening in Matthew hall with the president, Miss Rose McDonough, presiding.

Reports were received from their recent dancing party and it proved a most successful affair, both socially and financially.

After the regular business of the meeting had taken place a rehearsal for the coming concert to be given by the girls Friday evening of this week at Willow Dale was held.

On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 8, this same program will be carried out at an entertainment that will be entered to the advisory board of the C. T. A. union, whose delegates will meet at Matthews hall. A light collation will be served after the meeting.

PRES. TAFT FAVORS CIVIL SERVICE OLDEST MEMBER OF POST 185

He Tells Postal Clerks Why He Vetoed the Seven-Year Tenure Measure

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—In a striking half-hour address to the delegates to the 13th annual convention of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks in Faneuil hall last evening President Taft vigorously explained his attitude on the "seven year tenure" bill which he recently vetoed, and advocated a permanent tenure of office for federal civil service employees on a good behavior basis. He declared that he would always be found fighting on the side of selection by examination, and visitors, and each person cheered and vigorously waved tiny national flags they were holding as President Taft, preceded by Major Rhodes, his aide, and secret service men, stepped to the center of the platform. The cheering and huzzas for the "Square Deal president," as the chief executive was termed, continued so long that the president was forced to step down to ease his ankles, which he later explained, were swollen from "too much golf."

Praises Faithful Workers

"My fellow servants of the government, I am greatly indebted," he said, "to you for the cordial reception you have accorded me. This is September, and you were to go to Washington, you wouldn't find a president, a cabinet officer or a justice of the supreme court, but somehow the government is going on. Why?"

"Because it is made up of faithful, skilful and active civil servants who make a framework perfectly set which has stood 125 years until it is a perfect machine. This machine with its patriotic and intelligent workers, even though the hunchbacks are playing golf and getting swollen feet, I think I find there is food for thought in this. I think I know something about civil service. It has been the habit of those men who have made government work their life work because of the small compensation they so often receive, but in taking up this work on account of its permanency and tenure they avoid the nervous strain in the race for dollars and the ambition to amass great wealth that has swamped so many."

"Therefore, civil servants remind me of the philosopher. They devote their lives to their work with the belief that the government will not desert them when losing their skill and vigor. It has been said that civil servants are paid too much. That's not true—some are—they would be if they got any thing. I can count hundreds of men of my acquaintance in Washington who for the past 20 or 40 years have rendered a faithful and valuable service that could not be compensated except

How to Succeed

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it, free of cost, before purchasing.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of letters received from former sufferers who are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. They will gladly forward you a sample bottle by mail, absolutely free.

Mr. Phineas Trowbridge Was President of the 33rd Mass. Regiment

Mr. Phineas P. Trowbridge, for the past year president of the 33rd regiment reunion association until succeeded by Mr. John E. Barrows of Wilmington at the meeting in Tewksbury yesterday morning, was born in Westford on the 3d of September in the year 1822. After completing a course in the public schools there he took up the shoemaker's trade and continued in that business in Westford until he reached the age of 25 years when he moved to Lowell. In 1849 he married Ellen S. Jones, of this city and but one of their children is still living, Mrs. George Sweet, of North Chelmsford.

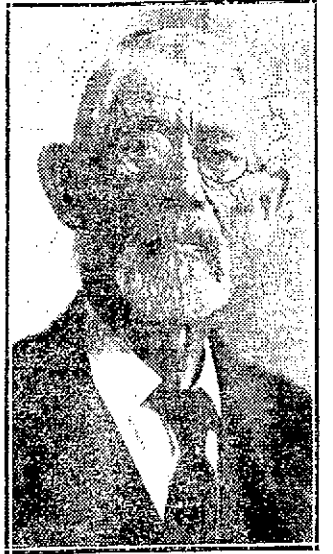

Mr. Trowbridge was for four years an apprentice in a hand made shoe manufactory and often worked until late at night by the light of an oil lamp. His wages, he said averaged in the vicinity of a dollar a day as a journeyman and the price of board in those times was but $1.75 per week. His maternal grandfather took part in the battle of Bunker Hill and had the thumb of his right hand shot away.

Previous to his joining the 33rd regiment Mr. Trowbridge was engaged in shoemaking in Pepperell, Mass., and enlisted at the organization of the regiment. He was with the regiment in each engagement in which it took part but was never wounded nor did he suffer any injury more serious than the effects of long wearing marches and poor and scarce food. He saw the first locomotive and cars to carry passengers and also remembers the canal boats which plied between Middlesex Village and Charlestown.

At present Mr. Trowbridge is living in the town of Tewksbury at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Blaisdell and has many a word of gratitude and appreciation for their kindness to him. He takes a lively interest in the topics of the day in which he is very well versed. He is the oldest member of Post 185, G. A. R., of Lowell, having been formerly transferred from Post 42, of which he was a member some years ago.

LIVELY FIRE IN THE REPAIR PLANT OF N. E. ELECTRICAL CO.

Prompt Work of the Fire Department Prevented Spread of a Dangerous Blaze on Fletcher Street

What threatened to be a dangerous blaze broke out in the New England Electric Co's plant on the top floor of the Charles E. Gee building in Fletcher street in the vicinity of Liberty square, shortly after 6.30 o'clock this morning and but for the prompt response of the fire apparatus the building in all probability would have been destroyed.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that it was due to spontaneous combustion. The principal damage is due to water.

The fire had its inception in the quarters of the repair company and spread rapidly but it was checked before it reached to other parts of the building.

An alarm from box 5 was sent in at 6.44 o'clock this morning and when the fire department arrived on the scene the smoke was pouring through the windows on the top story and the interior of the place was ablaze. Several lines of hose were laid and in short order the department had the fire under control.

Charles E. Gee, who owns the building and also occupies a portion of it, suffered considerable damage from water.

The building and contents were insured through the agency of Fred C. Church.

Windows Damaged

Two large plate glass windows in the office of Fred H. Bourke, coal dealer, in Liberty square, were smashed this morning about 8.30 o'clock when an obstinate horse backed over the curbing and did the damage.

The horse belonged to a man who gave his name as Mondelan and his residence as Dracut. It is said that the horse slipped on the wet pavements and in falling became frightened and instead of running forward started to back up and pushed the wagon over the curbstone and through the windows.

BRIBERY CHARGES

Four Members of Detroit Common Council Ordered to Appear in the Recorder's Court

DETROIT, Sept. 4.—Four members of the Detroit common council were scheduled to appear in the recorder's court today for arraignment on bribery charges, growing out of the Wabash railroad street closing case. They are Herman Cline, Tossy, Broze and Ostrowski. Alderman Mason yesterday was held to the recorder's court on a similar charge and examination set for Sept. 26.

Progressive Convention

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 4.—Discussion of prospective candidates for state offices occupied the time early today of the delegates to the first progressive convention which is scheduled to meet today to nominate a candidate for governor and a state ticket.

Progressives who steadfastly have opposed the movement are predicting that the unopposed delegates will be in control and that a state ticket will not be nominated.

Strict cautions are to be held before the convention is called to order and it is planned that all business of the convention will be over before the arrival late this afternoon of Col. Roosevelt, who will address the meeting.

YOUR HAIR IS FLUFFY, BEAUTIFUL AND LUSTROUS IN A NEW MOMENTS

Girls, Get a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine" and try this. Also Stops Falling Hair

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug, gist or toilet counter, and just try it.

MEXICAN RANCHES Sold to Have Been Raided and Considerable Property Stolen Near Pedro Ranch

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Sept. 4.—Reports of Mexican ranches being raided by Mexican rebels below this point continue. In a raid on the San Pedro ranch, 18 miles south of Hereford, Ariz., $5000 worth of property was stolen. Fifty head of cattle were taken from the William ranch near San Pedro.

No news from the Americans besieged at Nacozari has been received. A strict censorship has been insisted on telegraph and telephone lines running into Mexico.

Golf Championship

WHEATON, Ill., Sept. 4.—Second round of match play for the United States amateur golf championship brought together 16 of the best players in the country on the links of the Chicago Golf club today.

With Harold Hilton of Liverpool, England, eliminated from the tournament "Chick" Evans of Chicago, holder of the western amateur championship, was made favorite to win the national honor.

The defeat of Hilton, who until his beating was national champion, was the biggest surprise of the tournament. Hilton was the most feared of all the golfers participating and when he and Evans tied in the qualifying round there was not a doubt the British golfer would be in the finals.

THE DEMOCRATS GAIN IN VERMONT

The Election of a Governor Goes to the Legislature—Republicans Failed to Poll a Majority of the Votes

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. 4.—Vermonters today voted in the election of a governor. The next legislature will contain 100 members, 76 democrats and 24 republicans. The democrats won a majority of the votes in the lower house, as well as in the senate.

Because of the low turnout, a majority of the votes went to the democrats. The republicans failed to poll a majority of the votes in the legislature, which is a serious situation.

Congressman Frank L. Greene of St. Albans and Congressman Frank Chittenden of Northfield, both republicans, were re-elected.

The republicans failed to reach the 50-vote majority which has proved as a hindrance for the election of a republican president in the country.

One thousand five hundred followers of Vermont have the Association for

FIVE MEN INJURED

House That Was Being Moved Broke Down at Pawtucket and One Man May Die

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 4.—Five men were seriously injured, one of whom may die, and a woman narrowly escaped being burned when a two-story house at 111 Pleasant street broke down today and pinned the men beneath.

The injured are Joseph Marz, Geo. Abrahams and Peter Thompson, crushed and cut; Frank Leelan and Joseph Leelan, cut and injured internally. The latter may be one of the men who gave way, causing the house to turn over on its side. All the injured were taken to the Memorial hospital. Mrs. John Leelan, 111, and in the kitchen, escaped being burned when a stove was tipped over the room. The house was owned by John Leelan and his wife, and the men were working on it.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

The city of Lowell is on the eve of a new era that will make her one of the most beautiful in New England outside Boston. The movement for a more beautiful Lowell has already shown itself in the public park system and from an architectural standpoint the evidences of this evolution are visible at Merrimack Square. This square, the business center of Lowell, will soon be one of the most attractive to be found in the state outside Boston. We shall feel gratified if the new Sun building and the Chaffin building adjoining will only serve to get other real estate owners started to put up modern fire-proof buildings. There are many excellent sites for such buildings and we are confident they will be utilized in the near future.

In the next ten years, we expect an advance in the construction of steel buildings, that will give Lowell a metropolitan air, and silence the croakers who have been belittling everything in our city. Those who visit other Massachusetts cities can realize how far Lowell is superior to most of them and in the next few years she will out-distance them still further, not only by the erection of first-class buildings, but by increasing the excellence of her streets, the beauty of her parks, by clearing off many of the old shacks that stand as an eyesore, handed down from the past generation and testifying to the lack of enterprise and public spirit on the part of the owners. Building Inspector Connor has done good work in condemning some of these buildings but he has not done enough in that line. There are scores of others that should be torn down to give place to modern structures that would not only improve the appearance of the locality but also the sanitary conditions.

What we want now is a roads—new not only in our business and office buildings, but in our tenement blocks and ordinary dwellings, so that the dilapidated structures for which the owners try to charge a rental may give place to new and up-to-date homes in which the beauty of simplicity, proportion and fitness will stand out as prominently as did the opposite qualities in the older buildings.

ROOSEVELT'S CAMPAIGN METHODS

Colonel Roosevelt says Archibald slandered Mr. Bliss, now dead, in saying that the Standard Oil company contributed $100,000 to the 1904 campaign. In this statement is it not clear that Roosevelt is wrong? The country believes Archibald's sworn statement when he says his company contributed a large amount because it was then and for many years before the custom.

Again the people of this country do not believe Roosevelt when he says he did not know of any such contribution being received until a short time before election or after the money was spent. His appeal to Harriman for money in that campaign belies such statements. In a letter to Sydney Webster, Mr. Harriman made this clear when he said:

"About a week before the election in the autumn of 1904, when it looked certain that the state ticket would be democratic and was doubtful as to Roosevelt himself, he the president, sent me a request to go to Washington to confer upon the political conditions in New York state.

"I complied and he told me he understood the campaign could not be successfully carried on without sufficient money, and asked if I would help them in raising the necessary funds, as the national committee, under the control of Chairman Cortelyou, had utterly failed in obtaining them."

Harriman is dead but his words here quoted are believed by the masses without question. Mr. Bliss is dead but he did not leave such a definite statement of his dealings with Roosevelt.

The people believe the sworn statement of Mr. Archibald that he gave $100,000 to the Roosevelt campaign and that his company was asked for $150,000 more. The latter charge is in line with the plan of Col. Roosevelt to Harriman relative to the security of the funds. The colonel once said if he were quoted without his permission, he would pronounce the whole thing a lie. In the present case he is charged with something discreditable and he follows the same policy of pronouncing the charge utterly false and not only that, but he pours the vials of his wrath upon the heads of those who make the charge.

THE TIDE OF IMMIGRATION

More than a million aliens came to this country in the year ending June 30, 1912, according to the statistics collected by the department of commerce and labor. These were divided into two classes, immigrant and non-immigrant labor. The latter numbering over 178,000, consisted of first-class passengers, many of whom intended to take up a residence here. The total number admitted is 10,000 less than the number of arrivals in the previous year. The largest number admitted in any one year was 1,285,349 in 1908, the next highest in 1906, when the number was 1,100,734, while in 1910 the total was 1,011,570 and in 1909, only 1,028,499.

It is plain that without the tide of immigration, the development of the country would have been less rapid. The influx of foreigners has a tendency to increase the population more rapidly than the food supply of the country increases and thereby to raise the cost of living. In fact, this is really what has happened and it shows the necessity of directing the stream of immigration to the agricultural districts where the new comers will assist in extending the area under productive cultivation.

THE VERMONT VERDICT

The verdict from Vermont is certainly cheering to the democratic party because it shows that the voters of that faith are not likely to be stampeded by the Bull Moose vote. The republican majority has been overcome and the election of governor is thus thrown into the republican legislature. The gain of 3500 in the democratic vote in face of the fact that there were five candidates for governor is quite significant as presaging a democratic victory in November.

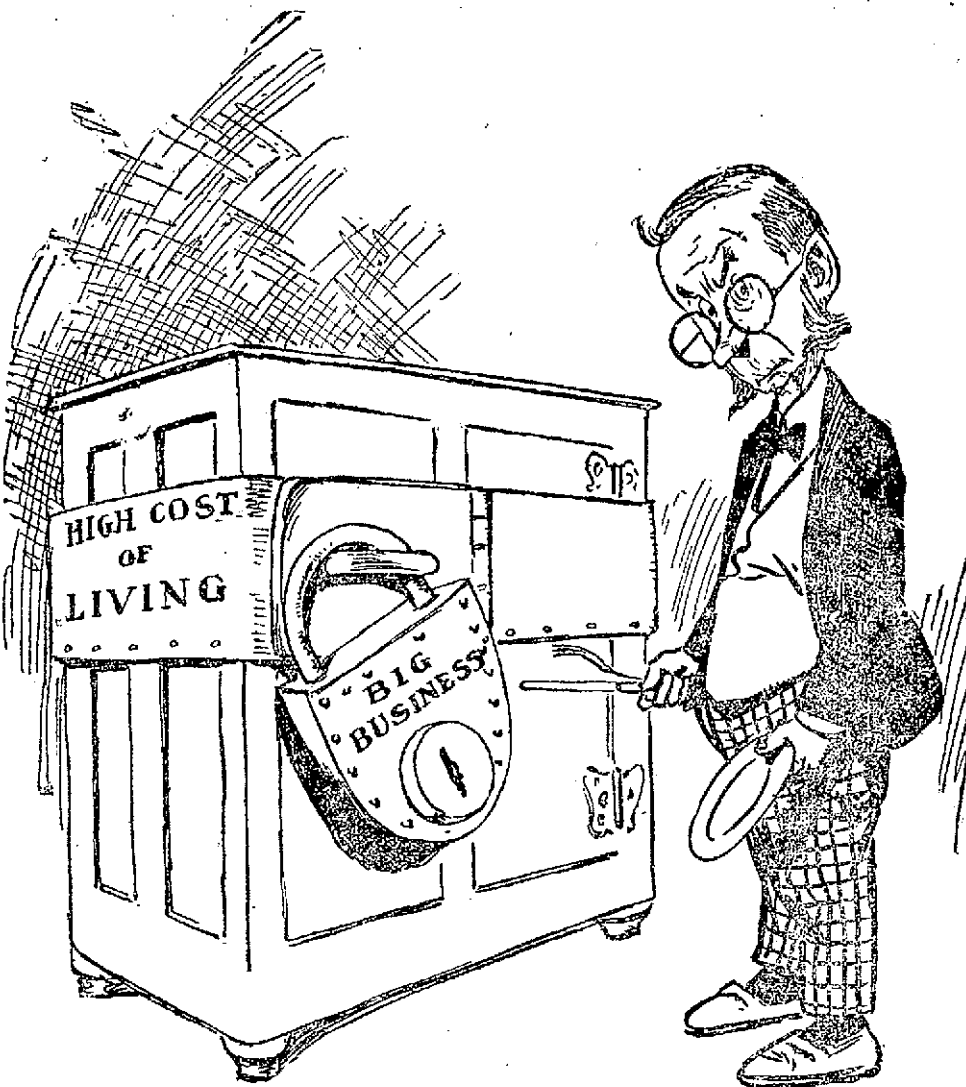

The one satisfying feature of the situation is, that in this election there is an assurance that the voters cannot be led into the Bull Moose camp by the appeals of Roosevelt. It is a proof of popular sanity that can be relied upon to assert itself in other states as well as in Vermont. The democratic party is solid for Wilson. It is gaining new accessions daily and the divided opposition will give that party an opportunity to win victories such as it has not had for many years. Roosevelt, therefore, in spite of all his vagaries is likely to do good in helping to roll up a great democratic victory in the November election.

The Roosevelt rejoinder addressed to Senator Clapp is so long that few papers can print it and few people could take the trouble to wade through it. To do so would be a waste of time for it offers nothing new. It is only a vomit of words like the chaff from a winnowing machine. It is a case in which Roosevelt has failed in trying to justify his use of the shorter and better word.

The Lawrence dynamite plot is the marvel of the hour. District Attorney Pelletier is determined to push the case without mercy, while the federal authorities are also investigating to determine how far the federal statutes were violated.

The mill station at Salem boasts that it did not lose a single baby fed with modified milk during the summer. That is probably the tale that all can tell unless the babies were far gone in cholera infantum before they were brought to the station.

Over the years, few grand. The cities are few that can capture a regeant grandeur two years in succession.

"HOW LONG, O LORD, HOW LONG?"

Seen and Heard

During his first curacy a clergyman found the ladies of the parish entirely too helpful. Such a storm of petty squabbles arose from their over-eagerness to help that in despite he gave up the place. Not long afterward he met his successor.

"How are you getting on with the ladies?" asked the escaped curate.

"Oh, very well," was the answer. "There's safety in numbers. I found it in Exodus," was the quick reply.

A Leavenworth business man found a large ten coal stove in his basement. He called a junk dealer and asked him, "How much?" The junk man offered $1.35, and the owner straightway wanted $2, chiefly for fun. They haggle awhile, and the second hand dealer departed, stoveless. "He'll be back," said the merchant.

In half an hour the junk man returned and offered $1.75, which was refused. Then a bright idea struck the junk artist. He brought out $1.40 and flinging the coins temptingly, said:

"Tell you what; do. I got you $2 for do stool, and charge you fifty cents to haul him away."

An Iowa correspondent writes: "In front of the house on the roadside there is so much poison ivy that the grass will not grow. I tried to grub it out and was laid up for three weeks with the poison. Now is there anything that would kill it by spraying, or can you give me any plan to get rid of it?"

The Ohio experiment station says it is spraying with a common salt solution made by dissolving common salt in water in the ratio of three pounds to a gallon is very effective. It is recommended that spraying be repeated every three or four weeks till the vines are dead. Another method is that recommended by the United States department.

MOOSE CARNIVAL

ATTRACTED LARGE ATTENDANCE YESTERDAY AND LAST NIGHT

The Hippodrome Crowded All the Time

There is always something doing when there is a good show offered in this city and yesterday afternoon and last night, despite the unfavorable weather there was a large attendance at the Moose carnival at Washington park.

Heralded by a brass band and a powerful electric organ, Ferrari's animal arena gave its performance. A large crowd bent on pleasure making turned out and everybody appeared to be in a happy frame of mind.

The usual midway side shows were present with their toned booths, and they will be there for the entire week. From the moment one arrives on the carnival grounds the fun commences. The noise of the bands and organs, combined with the shouting of the side show splendors making the place a veritable pandemonium. There are hot dog men, penny men, con men, dodgers, Sapho dips and fortune tellers as well as the knock in down Suits and a hundred other similar games and fair ground pastimes. There is the smallest horse alive, which is indeed a marvelous exhibit. There is an Egyptian theatre, where native dances and ceremonies are shown at each performance.

There is a merry go round and an ocean wave, both of which worked overtime with their heavy freights of laughing men, women and children. At the Hippodrome, a very creditable performance is given by a clever troupe of trained dogs, lions and monkeys while the funny antics of Maude, the famous kicking mule, kept the large audience in one continual roar of laughter. It is at the Hippodrome that we see the marvelous Willard family, with their pleasing musical entertainment which seemed to be well liked last night.

Harry Six, the dare devil fish diver performed the breath holding feat of plunging head foremost into a light, declared to be 125 feet into a tank of water containing containing but four feet of water. This performance was loudly applauded by the large crowd which stood breathless as the daring diver sped through the air like an arrow and, with a loud splash entered the waters in the tank below.

The Animal Show

Ferrari's animal show is the main feature of the midway and is certainly true to all of its vainglorious assertions. Those who have not had an opportunity of visiting the big Coney Island animal arena will thoroughly enjoy the wonderful performance given at this show which includes some clever tricks of the brute by the three and stretching its mouth wide open grasping his own head within the creature's rapacious jaws.

The feature acts were, Herr Gertrina, a daring young German trainer, who works a big group of mischievous lions and tigers and makes them go through all sorts of strange tricks.

Black Prince, a big man eating black maned lion of the Nubian species, looked like a mighty tough proposition and for a time it seemed as though this king of the forest, a huge and snarling brute, who amused himself by making savage attacks at his trainer, would do some serious damage.

However, with a whip in one hand and a loaded revolver in the other, finally succeeded in subduing the ferocious monster and made his royal highness grovel in the sand at his feet. Miss Flora, a good looking young Belgian girl also gave a wonderful exhibition with a mixed group of wild beasts and was loudly applauded as she mastered the growling brutes and made them do her every bidding.

THE APPLETON STRIKE

Weavers Refuse to Return to Their Positions

SUPT. BOWEN SAYS THAT 800 LOOMS ARE RUNNING

There Has Been No Sign of Trouble—Some of the Strikers Reported to Have Returned to Work

The 200 or more weavers who went out on strike from the Appleton mills yesterday when a demand by the I. W. W. readers, that all weavers be forced to join their organization, was refused by the mill managers, are still out. The I. W. W. held a meeting last night and voted to strike at the Appleton. The total number of weavers at the Appleton is 365 and if the 200 who went out on strike decide to remain out the mill will be forced to close down. As yet there has been no demonstration about the mill gates. When the I. W. W. held a meeting this afternoon Mr. Bowen of the Appleton Company stated that the condition of affairs at the mill was becoming daily more favorable and there is a constant gain in the number of the looms which are operating. Normally the mill keeps about 2000 looms in operation and at present about 800 of these are running, which is quite an increase over yesterday. The cause of the gain is the fact that new men have been hired and in addition to these a number of the strikers have returned to work, he said.

DEMOCRATIC GAIN IN VERMONT

Continued

The White House again, in plain English it means that the progressives polled a vote large enough to throw the election of governor into the legislature with a wide margin to spare.

Although the democratic candidate, Harold P. Howe, of Johnson, polled a vote substantially larger than that cast in 1910 for Charles D. Watson, the spectacular run of the day was made by the Rev. Fraser Metzger, the progressive candidate.

It looked at midnight with two-thirds of the state counted as if his vote would come close to the estimated 20,000 made by the progressives. The large vote for the ministerial candidate who has had little previous political prominence, is accounted for by the appeal Col. Roosevelt made to the voters throughout the state to show their belief in him by voting for Metzger. The Metzger vote does not express the total Roosevelt sentiment in the state. Leaders of the new party said last night that the result indicates that the state can be carried for the colonel in November.

Throwing the election into the legislature is all that the progressives expected to accomplish. They look at it as a rousing victory for their cause. Considering the fact that the republican majority has not fallen below 25,000 in a presidential year since the 55,000 majority in 1896 and never less than 10,000, there is some ground for them to feel elated at their strength.

The three-cornered contest for representatives in many places has resulted in many failures to elect. A majority vote is necessary, and under the constitution, balloting is continued until a choice is made.

In some towns this part of the election is becoming an endurance contest. In some republican towns the tally resulted in the election of a democratic representative.

Although the democrats nominated candidates for congress there was no real fight made and Congressman Frank Plimley of St. Albans and Dr. Metzger and the confidence of his home town, Randolph, where as pastor of the Congregational church he has been active in social betterment in addition to the work of his own parish. He was given 225 votes against 137, who voted the republican ticket at the last election. Howe had 51, five more than his party two years ago, and Metzger 21.

St. Albans, the first city to report its vote, went democratic as usual. Watson, the candidate for governor in 1910, was elected representative, having both the democratic and republican nominations. The republican vote fell off 52 and the democratic 228, the 1910 vote having been phenomenal. The progressives polled 182.

LATEST RETURNS

Show That the Race Between Republicans, Democrats and Progressives is Very Close

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. 4.—The close race between the three parties, republican, democratic and progressive, was emphasized today in the revision of returns of the vote for governor.

The revised returns from all but 21 small towns in the state today are as follows:
Allen M. Fletcher, republican, 22,569; Harlan B. Howe, democrat, 13,164; Fraser Metzger, progressive, 14,204; Clement Smith, 14,235.

The fall of the republican candidate for governor for the first time in the history of the state in an election preceding a presidential election causes the election of the state's chief executive to be made by the legislature in which it is expected that the republican party will have a substantial majority, although there are nearly 51 towns yet to report on the vote for representatives.

The strength of the progressive vote was a feature of the election, and the democrats are expected to carry over two years ago. The falling of in the republican vote was marked, and indications showed that a great part of the defection went to the progressives, although the democrats also gained and a few of the republican votes went to the prohibition ticket.

Comparison of returns from five of the 14 counties show that the democrats carried Chittenden county but republicans were successful in Grand Isle, Orange, Washington and Lamoille counties.

The result of the election is greatly encouraging to the progressive party of the state and the leaders of that party as well as those of the democrats claim a good chance to defeat the republicans in the presidential election in November in Vermont. Politicians who claim the result in Vermont yesterday is indicative of an overturn of the republican administration based on the old saying, "A falling off in the republican majority in Vermont today," 25,000 indicated the defeat of the republican party in November.

ADDITION TO GREENHALGE SCHOOL

Hearing on Matter Held Before
Municipal Council—Other Matters Taken Up

At a meeting of the municipal council held this afternoon the much postponed hearing on the petition for the removal of the big sign on the Howe building in Merrimack square was begun. The sign was erected by the R. C. Maxwell Sign Co., and the board of trade and others petitioned for its removal on the ground that it was a danger to public safety. Lawyer Wilson appeared for the R. C. Maxwell Sign Co., and Contractor Clarence H. Nelson was heard in expert testimony. He said he thought the construction of the sign was secure but he did not believe such signs should be allowed.

"Would you grant a permit for the erection of such a sign, were you in a position to do so?" asked Mr. Cummings. "No, I would not," said Mr. Nelson. Mr. Wilson had photographs of various signs throughout the city and he offered the same as evidence.

Commissioner Cummings, however, called his attention to the fact that other signs throughout the city were allowed by administrations of other years and not by the present city government.

Mr. Wilson admitted that all signs are a nuisance but that the question was not one of nuisance but one of safety and he allowed that he could say without fear of contradiction that the sign in question was the most securely constructed of any sign in the city of Lowell.

"If the signs of this character are all to come down," he said, "then well and good, but I do not believe that this particular company should be discriminated against."

Lawyer Howard

Lawyer Albert S. Howard appeared for the owner of the building, Mr. Walter H. Howe, and Mr. Howard said that Mr. Howe would not have allowed the sign to have been built if he did not think it was a strong element in the building. He said Mr. Howe was not a party to the making of the sign and was willing to abide by the decision of the inspector of buildings of the city council.

Mr. Howard read programs from Mr. Howe to the Maxwell Sign Co. in which he stated that the sign was not what had been contracted for, that it was a large painted sign instead of an electric sign. "I think these telegrams," said Mr. Howard, "sufficiently establishes Mr. Howe's feeling and position in the matter."

Inspector Connor of the lands and buildings department told of how the permit for the sign was obtained. He said that a representative of the company called at his office and told him the company was going to start an advertising campaign with board campaigns throughout the city, and the representative said the company was anxious to start the campaign at once. Mr. Connor said that later, while he was away from his office the same man called and got a permit from the clerk.

Wamesit Power Co.

Congressman Butler Ames appeared in favor of the Wamesit Power Co.'s petition for the widening of a portion of Lawrence street from Watson street to the Lawrence street bridge.

Mr. Ames said that negotiations are under way concerning the rebuilding of the bridge at that point. He said that the bridge was constructed and is maintained by the Wamesit Power Co., Bay State Street Railway and Boston & Maine railroad. He said that the widening of Lawrence street and the rebuilding of the bridge over the canal. He said it was a public improvement that was badly needed and he thought it was time to get together and have the matter attended to.

There is one hour that will have to be moved, Mr. Ames explained, and the house is owned by a woman. He said the woman should be paid for whatever land is taken and should also be compensated for rental during the time it would take to move the building.

Mr. Ames said the proper thing to do would be to build a new bridge that would last for years, the city to stand on a quarter of the expense of the bridge and after the bridge was built, he said, it would be turned over to the city, and the city, of course, would have to maintain it.

Mr. Ames of the Bay State Street Railway company was present and said that his company was willing to cooperate with other parties interested in the reconstruction of the bridge and his company, he said, would be willing to stand one-quarter of the expense.

In reply to Mr. Cummings, Mr. Ames said he thought the new bridge could be built inside of a month.

"In looking closed, Mr. Ames moved that the petition be referred to the commissioner of streets and highways to be reported at the next meeting."

The Greenhalge School

A hearing on the proposed addition to the Greenhalge school was held at the R. C. Maxwell Sign Co. building, 12 years ago. The hearing was held in the afternoon and was attended by a large number of people.

Mr. Wood said it would be impossible to have the proposed addition for this year. He said and he said, however, that the need of an addition is there and the sooner we can get it, the better, he said. A temporary structure in the yard had been suggested and Mr. Wood said he did not know how that would work.

Superintendent Wood said that the addition in question is badly needed. He said that West Centralville is growing faster than any other section of the city and more school room is required there. An addition has got to be built there, he said, and there ought not to be any unnecessary delay. Mr. Wood said that no schoolhouse of the kind required has ever been built in Lowell in less than two years and he said it would be doing exceptionally well to build it in a year. "It might be done in a year, but I doubt it," he said.

Mill Operatives Leaving the Merrimack
Mills At the Sound of the Bell at Noon

NOONDAY SCENE AT THE MERRIMACK MILL GATE

When visitors come to our city they usually visit the local mills and if they want to see the operatives, they go to the mill gates at noon or night. This is where the mill operatives can be seen in the mass, comprising as they do a great many nationalities. The majority of the operatives are women, some of whom have worked in the mills for a great many years. There are thousands who have been at work in the local mills for over 25 years, yet when the mill hands are seen in the mass as they rush from the mill gates at noon or night, the vast majority seem to be young in years. The above picture shows the operatives of the Merrimack Mills getting out at noon.

LOWELL DEFEATED HAVERHILL 5 TO 4

Small Crowd Witnessed the Game This Afternoon—De Groff Scored a Home
Run Winning the Game

Lowell	1	1	0	1	0	1	0	1	x	5	12	1
Haverhill	0	1	0	0	3	0	0	0	0	4	5	0

A small crowd gathered at Spaulding park this afternoon to see the game between the local team and Haverhill.

Lowell had the best of the game, having hit out on the diamond. The fact that Lowell has no chance for the pennant after losing the two games to Haverhill on Labor day kept down the attendance.

Before calling the players onto the field, Umpire Rorty announced that tomorrow afternoon a double header would be played at Brockton, the first game starting at two o'clock.

The lineup:

Lowell: Clemens of

2b Campbell

3b Young

4b Courtney

5b Carney

6b Cross

7b Matthews

8b Weaver

9b Pratt

10b Kessler

First Inning

Campbell opened the game by being thrown away. Bouttes to McGamwell and Young got a single over third. Courtney singled in center field but Carney hit to Dee who got the ball to McGamwell to nail the runner and then McGamwell threw to second and caught Young.

Clemens went out on a foul fly to Cross, Mago, De Groff and McGamwell all singled to right field, the latter scoring. Mago and Young went to Young when he tried to stretch the hit into a double. Miller closed the inning by striking out.

Score: Lowell, 1; Haverhill, 0.

Second Inning

Cross hit to Dee who easily threw him out to McGamwell. Matthews got a pass to first and was not satisfied until he stole second. Courtney clouted the ball away into the right garden for two bases and Matthews brought in a run for the visitors. Pratt was put away on a grounder to McGamwell and Courtney went to third. Kessler fanned.

Bouttes cut loose with a three base hit to center and P. followed with a single to right, scoring Jake. Dee stole second and then Mounhan foul tied out to Cross. Weaver went out. Campbell to Carney and Clemens did the same.

Score: Lowell, 2; Haverhill, 1.

Third Inning

Campbell fied, Weaver to McGamwell and Young went away on a foul fly to Bouttes. Courtney was thrown out by Dee to McGamwell on a sharp and sensational play by the local shortstop.

Matteo fanned and De Groff hit an easy one to Kessler and was put away to Miller. Cross to Weaver and Matthews to Dee, all of whom threw the runners out to McGamwell.

Score—Lowell, 2; Haverhill, 1.

Fourth Inning

McGamwell was credited with three outs in this inning when Carney hit to Miller, Cross to Weaver and Matthews to Dee, all of whom threw the runners out to McGamwell.

Miller was sent back by Campbell to Carney and Bouttes singled through the pitcher. He was put away by Pratt to Young when he tried to steal second. The was good for a single to right field and scored when Mounhan hit to the same place for two bases, the latter going out. Courtney to Campbell to Cross, when he tried to stretch the hit into a three-bagger.

Score: Lowell, 3; Haverhill, 1.

Fifth Inning

Carney hit to Dee and was safe on the latter's error. Pratt got a base on balls and both men advanced on Kessler's sacrifice, the latter being thrown out. Bouttes to Miller, the latter covering first. Campbell straddled, nailing the bags and Weaver was taken out to be replaced by Pratt. Young clouted the first ball pitched by the latter to third. Courtney to Young when he tried to stretch the hit into a double. Miller closed the inning by striking out.

Score: Lowell, 4; Haverhill, 1.

Sixth Inning

Carney began with a single to center field and Cross came next going out on a fly to Clemens. Carney thought he could steal second but was shown his mistake by Mounhan to Dee. Matthews got first on a pass and Mounhan ran away back to the grand stand making a pretty catch of Courtney's foul fly.

De Groff was hit by a pitched ball and went out, Pratt to Young when he essayed to go to second. McGamwell singled to center field and Miller hit to Young who got McGamwell by a quick hit to second. Bouttes got a Texas leaguer to center field and Miller scored. Dee died out to Matthews.

Score: Lowell, 4; Haverhill, 1.

Seventh Inning

Pratt hit an easy foul fly to McGamwell. Kessler hit nothing out air and Campbell fied down to Miller.

Mounhan died out to Matthews who made a sensational running catch that called forth a round of hearty applause. Pratt also died out to Matthews and Mago struck out after Clemens had hit to left field for a single.

Score: Lowell, 5; Haverhill, 1.

Eighth Inning

Young was thrown out, Dee to McGamwell and Courtney was put away by Miller to the same. Carney retired his side by going out to Dee.

De Groff got a home run when he slammed the ball away to the right field corner of the grounds. McGamwell fied out to Campbell. Miller went out on a fly ball to Young. Bouttes died out to Courtney.

Score: Lowell, 5; Haverhill, 1.

Ninth Inning

Cross was put away on a fly to Miller and Matthews fanned. Courtney died out to Mago.

Score: Lowell, 5; Haverhill, 1.

Stricken Suddenly

At 3:27 o'clock this afternoon the ambulance was called at the corner of Kinman and Floyd streets, where Thomas Morrison, foreman of the street department was suddenly seized with an attack of heart failure. He was removed to St. John's hospital, where the attending physician stated the patient had improved considerably and would be able to leave the institution probably tomorrow. Morrison lives at 29 Marsh street.

MAN WAS FOUND UNCONCIOUS

Unknown Italian Turned on Gas by Mistake in House in Tyler Street

An unknown Italian, aged about 35, was found in a room at 4 Tyler street, condition in a room at 4 Tyler street, about 4:30 o'clock this morning. It was at first thought that he attempted to commit suicide but after a careful investigation it is evident that the man turned on the gas by mistake. He is now at St. John's hospital, and at the time of going to press it was found that he was resting comfortably.

The unfortunate man went to the house in Tyler street, yesterday, and after asking for a room was assigned to one on an upper floor.

At about 4:30 o'clock this morning one of the lodgers detected a strong odor of gas and rapping on the door of one of the male lodgers he aroused him and the man broke in the door and found the unconscious man.

The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to St. John's hospital, where after receiving good care he recovered consciousness and at the time of going to press this afternoon he was resting comfortably.

The Fashionable Norfolk Suit To be Worn This Autumn

TWO OF THE LATEST FALL MODELS

Norfolk styles will be worn throughout the autumn and winter. In fact, the Norfolk coat makes an important wardrobe item. As it is generally becoming, it is sure to find a welcome, and the coat with a yoke and coat without a yoke are equally correct. In the illustration are shown two costumes. Both give the slender silhouette and the straight lines that remain essential to fashion, but both skirts are wide enough for comfort. They are made with the overlapping edges, that are the smartest of all things.

The suit to the left is made of cheviot in tobacco brown, for browns are to be much worn throughout the coming season. The skirt consists of just three pieces, and the front portions are finished and overlapped to suggest the flap of an envelope, but the back is plain. The coat is exceedingly smart. The box plaits are applied over seams that insure a satisfactory fit without difficulty, and the patch pockets are quite new and distinctive. Buttons make an important feature of all fall costumes. These are simple, but handsome, being made of bone in shades of brown, but a great many ball buttons are being worn and buttons of the material with metal rims. The envelope idea seems to suggest buttons in groups, but these groups can be arranged in any way to suit the individual taste.

For the medium size the coat will require 5 yards of material 27, 34, 44 or 2 yards 52 inches wide; the skirt 15 yards 27 or 24 yards 44 or 52 inches wide. The skirt can be finished at either the high or the natural waist line, and both are in good style. The second costume is shown in one of the new herringbone chevrons with the severe stitched finish and buttons used on the coat only. The skirt shows the overlapped effect at both front and back, but is made in four pieces with a seam over each hip. The coat is fitted by means of seams that extend to the shoulders, and plaits are applied over the seams. The herringbone cheviot is always a good material for autumn, but this season is to see a great many different fabrics worn. Worsted serge and whipcord of good quality are exceedingly smart, and there are certain novelties offered that are in every way attractive. Trimming of plaid or plain color is much liked, and either of these suits could be finished with collar and cuffs of plaid or other contrasting material to be very handsome. Later velvet will be much used, but for the early season it seems a little warm.

IN THE PICKLE SEASON

Recipes That Can be Recommended

Pickles are not classed as hygienic dishes, but in spite of this gastro-nomic ban they are eaten by everybody and extravagantly enjoyed by the members of almost every household. But there are pickles and pickles, and the following recipes can be thoroughly recommended.

Green Sour Pickles

Use a cupful of salt to a peck of whole cucumbers or green tomatoes sliced. Put in a stone jar in layers, with salt cover with cold water and stand overnight. In the morning drain off the water, add one quart of vinegar and one quart of water. Let stand overnight, then drain. Should enough vinegar to cover the pickles, add four green or red peppers, two tablespoons of whole cloves and a piece of bay leaf. Add the pickles and when scalded store in jars.

Mangoes

Cut the tops from one dozen red and one dozen green peppers. Remove the seeds and save the tops. Stand peppers upright in a tub, put a teaspoonful of salt in each one, cover with cold water and soak twenty-four hours. Drain. Cut two large heads of cabbage on a cabbage cutter, add to this one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one teaspoonful of ground allspice, four tablespoons of whole mustard and one tablespoonful of salt. Mix thoroughly. Stuff the peppers with this mixture. Put on the tops and tie tightly. Stand then upright in stone jars and cover with cold vinegar. Mangoes are also made from peaches and small melons.

Pickled Onions

Four boiling brine over the small onion onions, let them stand twenty-four hours, then drain and cover with hot vinegar spiced to taste.

French Pickles

Slice in an earthen jar one peck of green tomatoes, six large onions and pour over them one cupful of salt. Let them stand twenty-four hours, then drain. Add one quart of vinegar, three pounds of sugar, one-fourth of a pound of white mustard seed, one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one of ginger, two of mustard, one of cayenne pepper and cook slowly for fifteen minutes.

Chowchow

Put one head of cauliflower, one quart of string beans and one quart of button onions separately until tender. Cover one quart of tiny cucumbers with strong salt water and soak twenty-four hours. Then mix all together in a porcelain-lined kettle. Mix one-half ounce each of turmeric and mustard together and moisten them with a little cold vinegar, then stir them into the hot mixture, stirring constantly until the vinegar begins to thicken, then add one cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of mustard seed

HOW TO AVOID CORNS WAS SHOT BY REJECTED SUITOR

A Very Simple Method for Prevention

There is so much said concerning the "curse of corns" that the "cure of prevention" is frequently overlooked. It is only partly true, that corns are caused from badly fitted shoes. Americans have the best fitting, foot-wear in the world and the worst corns. European peasants have the worst shoes in the world and hardly any corns. If an ill fitting shoe is to be blamed for everything, what ought the condition of the French or German peasant to be who wears a whitened-out log of a shoe and stuffs straw in it to keep his feet warm?

It has been found out that corns are due primarily to accumulation of dead skin upon the foot, setting up a point of contact and irritation, which finally becomes inflamed, and frequently the inflammation becomes chronic. But it need never have started. Dead skin accumulates because the foot is shut off from air, and therefore, while more skin is being grown underneath all the time, there is no process of removal from the outside. This has a double effect. Not only does the skin become thick, but also the dry, scaly skin does not allow the perspiration to pass through, and this being stopped in its natural channels adds to the inflammation that has already started. With the skin of the foot in this unhealthy condition the pressure of the shoe readily sets up a corn, and the corn is under way, says a well known chiropodist.

Fortunately there is a simple method for the prevention of corns, and it is this: used by mothers for their children and carried out throughout life it would almost drive the chiropodist out of business. Coupled with the wearing of airy shoes it would do so entirely. This method of prevention consists of rubbing the foot hard with a coarse towel after changing stockings at the end of the day. The skin of the foot may be a little tender at first, but this is the surest sign that the treatment is necessary. It will almost entirely prevent the accumulation of corns, and even to those who are afflicted it will be found of the greatest benefit, for it will keep the pores of the skin of the foot wide open and in this way relieve the congestion around the inflamed point.

The simple device of having two eye-let holes put in the shoe on the inner side of the arch of the foot for all shoes except heavy footwear is also an aid in this precaution. Any chiropodist put them in. It is a great pity that more care is not taken of feet, for many an illness has proved fatal which otherwise would not have been so but for the fact that for many years the resisting power of the constitution has been sapped by the unceasing consciousness of pain.

Girl is in a Serious Condition and is Not Expected to Live—Man Admits Shooting

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Miss Gertrude Margaret Jordan, 25 years old, of 105 Boston avenue, Somerville, was shot three times and dangerously wounded at 2:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon by John H. Trainor, 38 years old, of 9 Harvard street, Charlestown, in the basement packing room of a Tremont street store where she was employed.

Trainor, who had recently been killed by the girl, was overpowered by persons in the store and turned over to the police. He refused to give any explanation of his act. The injured young woman was taken to the Revere hospital in an ambulance and her condition is critical.

A panic was caused by the shooting among the shoppers in the crowded store. Saleswomen and customers dropped behind counters or fled from the vicinity of the man who held the smoking pistol. The man had entered the store a few minutes before and walked to the room where Miss Jordan was employed. He found the young woman seated at her desk, she was writing and did not see him.

Fires Three Quick Shots

Without speaking or otherwise attracting her attention, Trainor drew a revolver, stepped close to Miss Jordan, fired three shots in quick succession and threw the pistol to the floor. He then stepped back to the wall, making no effort to escape.

Above the shrieks of the frightened customers could be heard the cry of the wounded girl, "Oh, Mr. Thomas, Mr. Thomas, I've been shot," she called as she fell. John T. Thomas, foreman of the packing room, who was standing nearby, sprang to her aid. At the same moment, William Herenstein, of 22 Forbes street, Jamaica Plain, an employee in the room, sprang over the boxes and saved Trainor, who requested Herenstein not to become excited.

Some of the excited girls in the basement rushed to the street and notified Crossing Officer John J. O'Brien at Tremont and School streets. Officer O'Brien ran into the store and placed the assailant under arrest. Trainor was booked at station 2 and held to await the outcome of the girl's injuries.

Later the man was taken to the Revere hospital, where Miss Jordan identified him as her assailant. He was moved to the police station, where he admitted that he had shot the girl and said he "knew what was coming to him." He admitted being a drug user and habitual cigarette smoker.

"There was no jealousy to it at all; there was no other man in the case," he said when questioned as to his mo-

ALLEGED KIDNAPPER IDENTIFIED

Roxbury Child Accuses Man of Detaining Her in a House All Night

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—After 5-year-old Catherine Dalton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dalton of 1 Winslow street, Roxbury, had pointed out a house as the place where she had been detained for a night against her will, police of the Dudley street station yesterday afternoon arrested John A. McDonald, 35 years old, of 8 Forest street, Roxbury. At the station house he was identified by the child as the stranger who had taken her from her home Monday afternoon.

When the Dalton girl returned to her home yesterday morning, after her parents had been driven almost frantic during the night by the future of all efforts to locate her, she said she could find the place where she had been confined. She then conducted her father and a policeman to the Forest street house.

Learning that McDonald was employed on city work at Summer and 12 streets, South Boston, Policemen McCarthy and Ryan were sent to take him into custody. After the child had identified him as a kidnaper and had three children of his own.

The little girl returned to her parents yesterday morning. Her father had just left his home to renew the search for the child when he met her on East street, hurrying towards home. She ran to him with a cry of delight, and throwing herself into his arms, snatched him with kisses.

Meanwhile the stranger who had taken her away the previous afternoon was seen by neighbors of the Dalton family leaving the girl on East street. Mrs. Margaret Perry and her son, Arthur, of 2 Winslow street, started in pursuit, and their cries attracted a crowd of others. The chase led down East

MAN TRIED SUICIDE

Richard Lahey Attempted to End His Life by Drowning in Lawrence Last Night

LAWRENCE, Sept. 4.—Richard Lahey, 72, residing at 7 Park street, last night jumped into the South canal, near the paper mill, and was rescued by men at a railroad crossing near the canal.

Lahey had been sick and it is said he was struggling for a week or two. When he left his home about dark last night he told his wife he intended to "go away with himself."

He had tied a rope around his legs before throwing himself into the canal. Lahey will be held for examination by physicians.

THE FEATURES OF CONSTRUCTION

Deciding Factors in Motor Car Sales—Several Cars Sold During Past Week

Time-tried features of construction are the deciding factors in motor car sales. Importance of seemingly secondary points in design. It will probably surprise prospective motor car buyers to learn that novelties of design and construction are not considered as inducements to the purchase of one make or another half as much as the time-tried features are. The cars that have made good have done so because their designers got down to bedrock at the start. They studied and experimented until they hit the right mechanical principles, and then they stuck to them.

Hundreds of automobiles passed through Lowell Sunday and Monday morning on their way back from the Vermont mountains, others occupied by people who were very much interested in the cars. Cars from various states throughout the country trailed their way through Merrimack square, and many people who had occasion to be in the new Sun building waiting for the cars enjoyed themselves by trying to ascertain from what states the different cars came.

As usual there were many auto accidents Monday and the day before, and several persons were killed, and others were seriously hurt in this section of the state. Unfortunately a serious accident occurred Sunday near the railroad station in Waverlet in which a Boston man was so badly hurt that it was necessary to amputate the right leg below the knee.

The Little Four, two passenger runabout which arrived in this city last week, is attracting considerable attention, and the popularity of the car will be all probably resting in the sale of many during the coming season. This car is on exhibition at the Lowell Automobile Corporation in Appleton street, and Mr. Milo Hale, the popular salesman, has given many demonstrations to local citizens and prospective purchasers of autos.

Charles E. Jeffrey, one of the best fellows who ever cranked an automobile or slipped the spark or gas lever over a mudguard, and a person who has operated an automobile at a rate of speed better than a mile a minute and who never met with an accident, owing to his careful operation, is in our midst again.

"Jeff"—that is the name that he is known by to his friends in this city, and he has hundreds of them—made his first appearance in Lowell when he piloted the police patrol to this city. Despite the fact that that was a short time ago he has risen from the ranks and his early experience and the two and one-half years that he spent with the Thomas Co. has made him one of the most prominent and successful contractors and operators in New England.

He has had many offers to sign contracts with various companies in order to drive racing cars, but he believes that it is wiser to sell or demonstrate machines than to pilot them over the crooked track or in the road races. Owing to his ability he accepted a very flattering offer from the Thomas B. Jeffrey company, manufacturers of the Lambert automobiles, and his business in Lowell at the present time is a very profitable one. He has a local dealer for the Lambert cars, and if he succeeds in doing so, there is no doubt but that he will give his personal supervision to the care of the cars. A service station will also be established here, and if anything should happen to one of the cars the owners will receive prompt attention and good care.

In speaking about "Jeff" it is a rather peculiar coincidence that he spells his name "Jeffrey" and the firm for which he is working is spelled "Jefferys". There is no relation, whatsoever.

Mayor James E. O'Donnell is the proud possessor of a 13-horsepower Rambler runabout. It is known as a cross-country runabout and is a beauty. It is also a powerful and graceful running car.

Mr. John P. Cunningham of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company has purchased a Rambler runabout which will be delivered within a few days.

Eugene B. Telford of 3 Babcock place, off Walker street, has been awarded a Ford touring car through the agency of the Lowell Motor Mart in Merrimack street.

Mr. George E. Colson will soon be seen on the local streets with a Ford touring car. His has been delivered to him through the agency of the Lowell Motor Mart.

"Thousands of Americans never knew their country until the advent of the motor car. He Switzerland, its lakes, its Italian lakes, was only in the prose or verse of poets, who by wagon-trail, on horse, or on foot had penetrated regions far as Europe at the best can boast."

"From a traveler's point of view, the glimpse of mountain, valley or plain, the spirit of discovery, the impulse to go into the back-country, to know its quaint byways, its hills and dales and babbling streams, come with the automobile."

The above is the introduction of a very interesting booklet which is entitled "America From a Touring Car" which has been issued by the Touring Club of America. The booklet contains interesting descriptions of the most popular touring sections of the country, including "Motor Trails of the Empire State," "New England as a Touring Ground," "New Jersey and the South," "Highways of the Middle West" and "Across the Rockies to the Golden Gate."

The automobile editor of the Sun is in receipt of one of these valuable of steam engine entered to the agricultural field. In a very limited sphere because of the excessive weight of the product, the decade the gasoline engine motor has been exploiting this fruitful territory, and for several seasons the interest has been sufficiently great to produce annual contests for the education of the agriculturists and greatly to the benefit of the maker. There is today a wider market for the $1000 tractor than there is for any type of pleasure car.

A motion picture showman, who travels from place to place, giving shows in a tent, has equipped his automobile with an electric plant for the operation of the motion picture machine and for the 48 electric lamps in and around the tent and on the automobile itself. The electric plant consists of a 60-volt slow-speed dynamo which runs at 100 revolutions per minute.

The owner of the outfit and his wife travel from town to town in the automobile, which has covered over 14,500 miles, and the tent, seats and other heavy equipment of the show are shipped by rail.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Opera House
"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," a four-act play taken from the novel of the same title written by John Fox and dramatized by Eugene Walter, and one which has met with great favor and success everywhere throughout the country, gave the first of three performances at the Opera House last evening. If the people of the city appreciate a first class production and recognize one when they are given an opportunity of witnessing one that is even out of the ordinary, every seat in the Opera House should have been taken for the performance last evening. The attendance last evening, however, was not large for a company that played to crowded houses all last season but the theatre-going public have a chance to redeem themselves tonight at the performance and prevent managers from carrying away the impression that the people of Lowell do not know or appreciate a first class play especially when it is as beautifully produced as this one certainly is. Those, however, who were fortunate enough to see last night's performance gave undeniable evidence of their appreciation of the play.

The scenes are laid in the mountains of the south where the notorious "Moonshiners" are known to make their haunts and the laws of civilization are poorly observed and very dimly known. The piece is a character study of the inhabitants of those wild regions where there are those bloody feuds, relics of barbarism. Following is the cast:

June is as sweet and beautiful a character as was ever put into any book or play, a product of the wild region in which she was a dweller. Jack Hale is the principal male character and is a city bred man who has gone into the mountains in search of adventure, which by the way he found in plenty. June is a true child of the woods and the two met by chance in the forest and the story grows out of the meeting.

Every member of the cast carries his or her part in a very creditable manner. Miss Isabelle Rowe taking the part of June, won the hearts of all her audience, as her part is perhaps the most important as well as the most difficult one in the play. She is, therefore, the biggest factor in the success which the play has enjoyed and which it will doubtless continue to enjoy for another season.

Mr. James Vincent carries the part of Jack Hale to perfection, and we cannot leave unmentioned the pleasing work of T. V. Morrison as Dave Tolliver, Noah Berry as Judd Tolliver, June's father, and J. D. Peniston as Bob Berkley, a friend of Jack Hale. In short the whole cast is deserving of great credit for the true manner in which they interpreted the different parts of this beautiful play.

The fact that the audience at the Opera House last night was a small one can be taken as nothing less than a reflection upon the taste and love of dramatic art of the people of this city. The piece was more than worthy of a crowded house and it is hoped that all the seats for the two remaining performances will be taken. Once seen, it can never be forgotten, for it is in all truth one of the most beautiful stories and character description which are today represented on the stage.

ADMA
May Latham enjoys the reputation of being one of the handsomest women on the American stage. It was this as much as her singing and acting ability that caused the management to engage her.

Those missionaries of nonsense, "The Nautical Trio," in a farce comedy, entitled "The Doctored Widow," have made a great hit thus far this week and their engagement. The situation develops out of a fit of senility which Irene Gurney as Peggy Gordon, the widow, is tormented when Tom Kyle as Bill Dunston, the bachelor, impersonates a doctor. This piece has a wealth of good comedy, which, moreover, is new and up to date, which is one of the most pleasing features of the Keith theatre offers to its patrons this week.

Ward and Culhane, who present a novelty dancing act, were very well received. They are "blacked up" and in addition to their dancing, which is a novel feature, they render a couple of good, snappy songs that were encored several times.

"A Leap Year Leap" is a delightful farce comedy, and especially so when it is presented by Ward Hutchinson and Rosamond Harrison. Miss Harrison, acting the part of Daisy Thallow, endeavors to help Mr. Hutchinson, who takes the part of George Tallow, a very handsome young man, to get up courage enough to propose to her. This paves the way for a number of decidedly funny situations and developments which Mr. Hutchinson sets forth in a manner that is inevitable.

Other acts are all novel and pleasing, and well rendered by clever artists. They are Wilbur C. Sweetman, who has a "mug" act that has not been seen before. Ventworth, Yarnall and Teddy in unique gymnastics and introducing their acrobatic dog, Jewette, a child, a very attractive and clever singing quartette, and the Gagnaux, novelty jugglers who have some new features along this line.

The entire bill is up to the standard every way you take it and is being seen daily and appreciated by a great number of local people who know good vaudeville. Phone 28 to the box office and order your tickets now, for they are in great demand.

The Playhouse
No expense has been spared in fitting up The Playhouse (formerly the way Theatre) for its formal opening on Sept. 16. Kendal Weston, who has been confined at the Lowell hospital for some days back, but who expects to resume his duties at the theatre in a day or two, has the enviable reputation of being a real stickler for detail in carrying out all that goes into the making of a refined, up-to-date house of entertainment, and in his preparatory work thus far he has devoted himself more especially to these particular details. The standard of Weston productions in this city, as well as in all other theatrical centers where he has appeared, has been so far above the average performances of stock companies that naturally enough local patrons will look for something of a more artistic and satisfying nature than has been turned out in Lowell of late, and that they will not be disappointed. Weston without saying, they had Mr. Weston for the Countess Nine. But he has a "hooked me yet." This latter song he will sing until the election. After that it may be modified to some extent, for the new bookkeeper character, and make-up are those of our Bill Moore, friend, Col. Roosevelt. The monologue was written for the Friars' Frolic in New York, and proved so good that he has retained it.

THE PINK LADY
Mr. Ivan Caryll who composed the score of "The Pink Lady" which is to be seen here Sept. 13 and 14, is an Englishman who sent his first musical training in this country under the guidance of Boston ideals and later with the famous Bostonians. He married Gertrude Thayer, one of the daughters of that great company. He returned to England and later became identified with the Gayety troupe under the George Edwards regime. He wrote the music for "The Runaway Girl," "The Spring Chicken," "The Girls of Gottenberg" and a half-dozen other hits of the famous home of London musical comedy triumphs. His greatest hit, however, was "The Pink Lady," and it remained for him to return with that America, the scenes of his earliest experiences to score his greatest success to date. Mr. Caryll combined the charm of good music and catchy melody in his scores and already his most successful numbers in "The Pink Lady" have been heard around the world.

The defeat of Hilton, who until his beating was national champion, was the biggest surprise of the tournament. Hilton was the most feared of all the golfers participating and when he and Evans tied in the qualifying round there was not a doubt the British golfer would be in the finals.

LAWRENCE ADDS ONE MORE WIN

Defeated Worcester in 10 Inning
Game, 5 to 4—Pearson of
Lawrence Hit the Bull

LAWRENCE, Sept. 4.—Lawrence, the league leader, came from behind and won from Worcester in a 10 inning struggle here yesterday, 5 to 4. The all round playing of Pearson, the local twirler, featured the game. He retired the visitors in order in seven of the ten innings. It was Pearson's single in the 10th that gave Lawrence the game. Three of Worcester's five hits were made in the third inning, when, aided by errors by Slattery, the visitors scored their four runs. In the ninth inning Pearson, the Lawrence pitcher, hit the bull sign in right field. The score:

LOWELL AND BROCKTON

Will Play Double Header
Here Tomorrow

Lowell will play a double-header with Brockton at Spaulding park tomorrow afternoon, the first game to start at 2 o'clock. The double bill will mark the close of the 1912 season in Lowell. One of the games to be played tomorrow was postponed in this city in the early part of the season, while the regular game was scheduled for Brockton. Managers Gray and McLane got busy and last night decided to play the games in Lowell. Today Lowell will play Haverhill at Spaulding park, and Lawrence will play Worcester at Worcester. Lowell's two games with Brockton and a game with Lynn at Lynn Friday and another with Worcester at the latter city will complete Lowell's league playing for the season. Tomorrow Lawrence and New Bedford will play one game at Lawrence and on Friday and Saturday Lawrence plays four games with Fall River at Lawrence. On the six remaining games to be played by Lawrence, the leaders can win the pennant by winning three games, even if Lowell should win all their five games. The Lowell players enjoyed a day off yesterday, and some of the boys took in the Lawrence-Worcester game, while others took trips.

MONTAUKS WON GAME

Took Two Strings and
Total From Glee Club

The Montauks won two strings and the total from the Glee club yesterday as the Campers' league series on the lakeview bowling alleys last evening. Four of the Campers were high men of the evening. He piled up the best single and total, getting 114 in a single and 190 for a total. The game was witnessed by a large number of spectators, including many members of the other teams in the league. There is great interest in the result and all the members of the 400-cent teams, but by the entire bowling fraternity. The score of last night's game was as follows:

The Palmer, who won from the Americans on the South common last day by the score of 11 to 6, would like to play the Mountians, Lincoln, Sears, Ellis or C. M. A. C. for a purse. Send challenges through this paper.

The Crimmon A. C. accept the challenge of the Tiger A. C. for Saturday, Sept. 14, the game to be played at the Felsbury novelties grounds.

The Buffaloes would like to play the North Chalmers Cadets, Saturday.

The Rangers and the O. M. I. Cadets will meet here on Saturday at Shedd park.

The Mountians will play the C. M. A. C. Saturday.

The Dixwells are without a game for Saturday and would like to hear from any strong team in the city or suburbs.

The W. A. A. A. is preferred in this challenge.

Football Starts

The North End football team has organized for the season of 1912 and would like to hear from the strongest teams in the state. Manager Walsh requests the following men to report for practice Friday evening, Sept. 6: J. Gleason, Rolan, Martin, Shagraw, Whiston, Garzham, Britton, Jones, Mathews, J. Hennessy, M. Malloy, P. Owens, T. Flynn, J. Woods.

RUBE DE GROFF IS REAL LEADER

Has Fine Batting Average of .359 in 119 Games

While Pat Maloney of Brockton leads the league hitters with an average of .375, he is not the real leader owing to the fact that he has played in but 21 games. Rube De Groff of Lowell, who has played in 119 games, is the real leader. The latter has the remarkable average of .359. In 445 times at bat Rube has made 161 hits. The Lowell slugger also shows up well in other departments of the game. He has scored 91 runs, and has purloined 46 bases.

Pete Clemens of Lowell is the leading run-getter of the league, having scored 98 times during the season. Pete also leads in stolen bases, having swiped 53 bases.

Lowell has four men in the .300 class. They are De Groff, Halstead, Clemens and McGamwell. The 300 hitters in the league are:

THE SUN'S DAILY PICTURE PUZZLE

"TWAS BUT A DREAM.
"Only last night I was rich," he said;
"Rich as a Wall-Street kid.
Now I have nowhere to lay my head,
And now I know poverty's sting.
"Squandered your coin like a fool," I cried.
"Reviled in pleasure's cup!"
"No!" he replied, and he woefully sighed,
"The cop on the beat woke me up."
Where is a policeman?
ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE
Upside down, between two.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—In the opinion of fans Boston has the American League pennant nailed and glued, and the players are already dividing the world for any reason he has an undecided. Nunnemaker, who has shown 17 his son games, nobody behind the bat, work this year that he can be depended on at any time. With these two men on the job the Red Sox will have as good men as backstops as they will appear in the world's championship series, no matter what National League team they must meet.

Johnny Kilbane, the Featherweight Champion
One of the Most Popular Men in the Ring

Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, whose address is Cleveland, O., is one of the most popular pugilists that ever held a title. Unlike many other fighters, he is domestic in his habits and thinks there are just two perfect human beings on this earth—his wife, Irene, and his daughter, Mary. And for them he is willing to fight until he has played them beyond all possibility of win. Then he intends to sidestep into a new line of business endeavor.

ELIE VEZINA
Secretary General

For Vice President of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste D'Amer- ique—Officers Elected

(Special to The Sun) The Lowell delegates to the convention of the L'Union St. Jean Baptiste D'Amerique, which counts three councils in Lowell, J. N. Jacques, Carillon and L'Union, with nearly 1000 members, opened in Fall River yesterday morning, the opening being held in the morning. The opening of the business was preceded by a solemn high mass at St. Anne's church with Rev. George A. Rainville of Salem, chaplain general of the organization, as celebrant, assisted by Rev. E. C. Laroche of Redford, N. Y., as deacon and Rev. Bernard Perrot, formerly of Lowell and now pastor of St. Nicholas's chapel, Swanton Centre, as sub-deacon. Rev. Fr. Levesque of Berlin, N. H., was master of ceremonies, while Bishop Fuchs of Fall River occupied a place in the sanctuary. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dominick A. Turcotte, O. P., of St. Anne's church. Mayor Higgins delivered an address of welcome to the delegates, granting them the freedom of the city and wishing them Godspeed in their work.

The election of the general board of officers, which was held this afternoon, resulted as follows: Henri T. Ledoux, Esq., re-elected president general; Elie Vezina, Woonsocket, R. I., re-elected secretary general; Pierre Bonvouloir, Holyoke, re-elected treasurer general; Dr. F. A. Ruest, Pawtucket, R. I., re-elected physician general.

The convention opened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and on the platform with the mayor and officials of the convention were seated Mgr. J. A. Prevost, Rev. Ange Emile Dion, O. P., Judge Hugo A. Dubuque and District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston. The meeting was opened by President Henri T. Ledoux of Woonsocket and the above made remarks treating on the order.

The following were elected officers of the convention: Rev. Joseph Marchand, Holyoke, spiritual director; Lecl Bousquet, Worcester, president; F. X. Tremblay, Southbridge, first vice president; Normand Lantier, Providence, second vice president; Ludger Masse, Biddeford, Me., third vice president; Eugene L. Jalbert, Woonsocket, secretary; Joseph Coteau, Augusta, Me., first assistant secretary; Joseph Carrier, Lowell, second assistant secretary; L. Joseph Rieus, Fall River, master of ceremonies; Joseph Poulin, Central Falls, first sentinel; William J. Lebeau, Chicago, second sentinel.

The session today opened at 9 o'clock this morning at which time the reports of the general officers were submitted. The first question brought up was that of transferring the headquarters of the union from Woonsocket, R. I., to Boston, but when the union's attorney presented a notice to the 300 delegates that such a move was illegal according to the laws of Rhode Island all discussion ceased. It was also voted to hold the convention every three years instead of two years.

Several important questions concerning the members of the union were discussed at length and disposed of after which the election of officers for the coming three years took place with the following result up to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon: Henri T. Ledoux, Woonsocket, N. H., president general; Elie Vezina, Woonsocket, R. I., secretary general; Pierre Bonvouloir, Holyoke, treasurer general; Dr. F. A. Ruest, Pawtucket, R. I., physician general.

Mr. Pierre A. Brousseau of Lowell is a candidate for second vice-president general, while Mr. Eliear H. Choquette, formerly of Lowell and now of New Bedford, is one of the many who are aspiring for the first vice-presidency.

SOME IMPROVEMENT NOTED AT THE CLOSE OF THE MARKET TODAY

There Was a Relaxation of the Money Rates. Final Prices Were Not Essentially Changed from the Previous Day.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Prices tended downward again at the opening of today's stock market with weakness most pronounced in New York Central, American Sugar, American Tobacco, and Canadian Pacific. One of the foremost tobacco subsidiaries declined about five points. The only notable exceptions to the general declines were Anacosta and Mercantile Marine, which showed fractional gains.

There was a rise in U. P. Can. Pacific, Reading, Steel and the copper, the advance being from a half to a point above yesterday's close.

Stocks showed an inclination today to recover from yesterday's general weakness, regaining in some instances about half of their losses. Dealings in the first hour were fairly large, but they probably represented little more than a skirmish between the opposing forces in which the shorts were partly driven to cover.

Some slight heaviness was shown later in the day, the setback, which included most representative stocks except the tobacco, occurring with a further rise in money rates.

The market closed steady. Some improvement was noted with the relaxation of money rates in the last hour, especially in representative issues. Final prices, however, were not essentially changed from the previous day.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Exchanges $34,022,214; balances $2,032,555.

GOV. WILSON
Is Pleased with the Result of the Vote in Vermont in Favor of the Democrats SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 4.—The fact the democrats more than held their own in Vermont, a republican state, and also made substantial gains means success throughout the country," said Gov. Wilson today commenting on the election results in Vermont.

COL. ROOSEVELT
Expected to Testify Before the Senate Investigating Committee October 2 or 3
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is expected to appear Oct. 2 or 3 before the senate committee investigating campaign contributions to testify regarding the allegations of John H. Achold and Senator Penrose that the Standard Oil company gave $100,000 to the republican national committee of 1904 with his approval.

LOSS $2,500,000
1000 Persons of Ocean Park, Cal. Are Looking For Homes Today
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 4.—Fully 1000 persons are hunting homes today as the result of the fire which destroyed 150 buildings in Ocean Park yesterday night, causing a loss estimated at $2,500,000 with insurance of only ten per cent.

Real Estate Men
NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—One hundred real estate men attended a luncheon today at which Rolla Wells, treasurer, and Henry Montgomery, chairman of the finance committee of the national democratic committee were present. A real estate men's branch of the Wilson and Marshall club was organized.

Charges of Fraud
COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 4.—When the democratic state committee of South Carolina met here today to canvass the results of the recent primary it was understood that charges of fraud filed by Judge Jones, who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, against Governor Lee would be thoroughly investigated. Included in the charges are specific allegations of ballot stuffing.

Bourne for Roosevelt
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon in a formal statement today announced that he would support Col. Roosevelt for president.

Gov. Johnson to Speak
COLUMBIA, Sept. 4.—Although the state convention of the progressive party in Ohio will convene this afternoon no little interest is centered in the arrival tomorrow of Governor Johnson of California, who will address the convention. Delegates will caucus by districts this afternoon, elect the members of state central and other committees. The convention will be called to order at four o'clock by Temporary Chairman Garfield.

Taft in Washington
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—President Taft arrived here from his trip this morning to formally open the international Congress of Applied Chemistry and welcome its delegates at a White House garden party. Mr. Taft expects to stay here tonight and leave tomorrow for New London and Beverly. He returned to comment upon the election results in Vermont.

Rifle Tournament
RIPLE RANGE, Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 4.—Today's program in the shooting tournament here was delayed during the forenoon by a fog which blanketed the range and hid the targets. Matches in the afternoon included the enlisted men's team match, the marine corps match and the Libby trophy match.

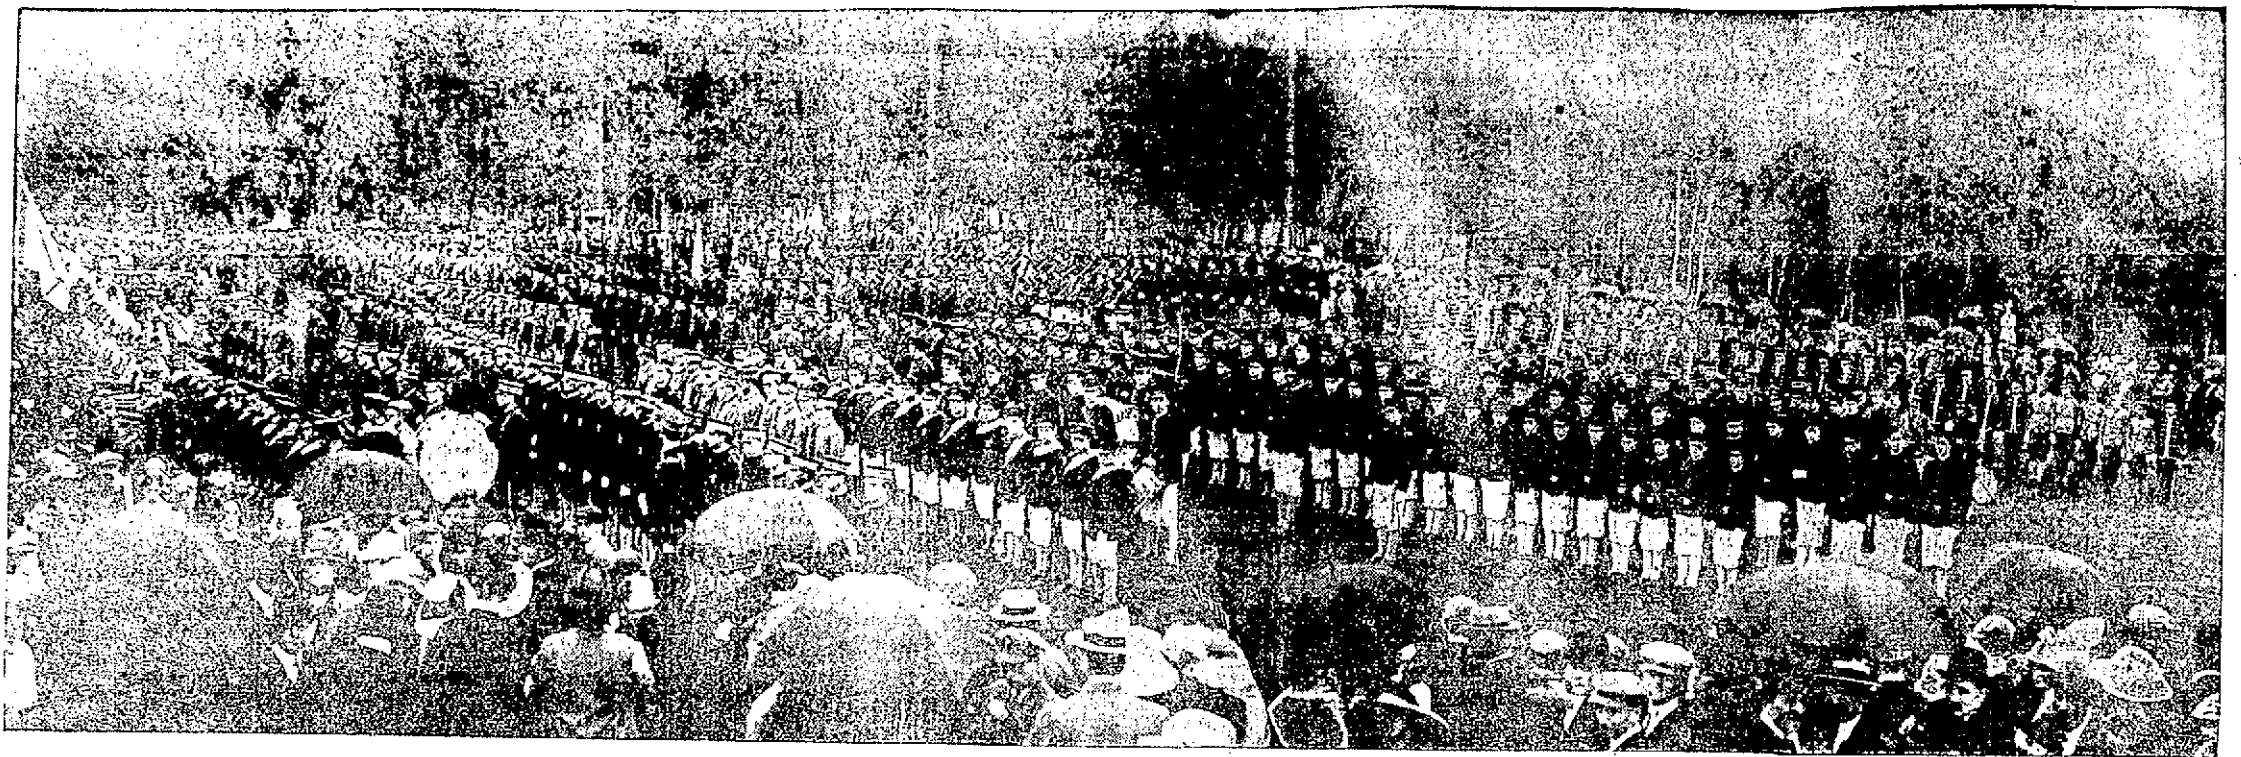

Sacred Concert
The members of the Sacred Heart choir will meet at the church vestry on Friday evening and the first of a series of rehearsals for the presentation of a sacred concert will be held. The concert will be given under the direction of John J. Kelly, organist and director of the choir.

THE DEMOCRATS GAIN IN VERMONT

The Election of a Governor Goes to the Legislature—Republicans Failed to Poll a Majority of the Votes

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. 4.—Vermonters today failed to elect a governor. Returns show that the next legislature will contain 110 republicans, 36 democrats and 14 progressive members of the lower branch, as well as 20 republican senators.

Because of the law requiring a majority of the voters elect Allen M. Fletcher, the republican candidate, must await the session of the incoming legislature, which is safely republican.

before he will be entitled to occupy the seat of chief executive of the state. The figures for the state available at an early time this morning, which include returns from the six cities and the rest of 210 towns, give:

Allen M. Fletcher, R., 22,366
Harland P. Howe, D., 17,504
Eos Pomeroy, P., 13,630
Clément E. Smith, P., 1,341
Frederick W. Sutter, Sec., 945

Congressman Frank L. Greene of St. Albans and Congressman Frank Plimley of Northfield, both republicans, were re-elected.

The republicans failed to reach the 25,000 plurality which has served as an index for the election of a republican president in the country. Col. Theodore Roosevelt's followers in Vermont gave the Abyssinian treatment to the republican party in the state election yesterday. It is the treatment that the former president has promised for the Archbalds and the Penrose if he gets into continued to gaze eleven part of the mail is addressed to his place, and he accommodates his customers with stamps and envelopes, but so far as registered mail is concerned Mr. Flanders cannot get a look-in, and the movement for a sub-postoffice according to many is a legitimate one and may prove successful.

SUB POSTOFFICE IS WANTED

One who has not been to Belle Grove or Vermont's landing lately would hardly recognize the place were he to go now for many alterations were made there recently. To start with the dance hall which for the past 25 years was the scene of large gatherings at least three times a week, is no more, as the building was torn down and with the old wood, the owner of the place has built a fine home for himself across the road and next to this building he erected a smaller house which he is using for a store.

The owner of this large tract of land, Mr. H. A. Flanders, has also demolished the spacious dining room and with the wood built a barn in the rear of his store. The place is still being used for picnic purposes, free of charge, providing the best of behavior reigns on the place.

Mr. Flanders' new home is a modern two-story house built on a thick cement foundation. It is equipped with a steam heat system and a gasoline pump which pumps water from the old well near the river into the house across the road. The part of Dracut has increased considerably for the past ten years. During the past year about 12 houses and several camps were built between Belle Grove and McMonmon's nursery, and the prospects are that many more will be erected in the near future, as many foundations have been set.

The Brookside district is being supplied with water from the pumping plant owned and operated by Charles Caverly, an owner in the Merrimack mill, who resides in that vicinity. His plant consists of a large gasoline pump engine and there are about 20 houses which are being supplied with fine cool water, inasmuch as the supply is inadequate for the many demands. Mr. Caverly is now digging another deep well and in a few months he hopes all complaints will cease.

A proposition relative to water supply which appears to some is that suggested by a resident of Mt. Pleasant, who was telling the writer this morning that there is a good spring just above Belle Grove, and if one would install a powerful engine on the premises, draw the water from the spring and pump it into a reservoir which could easily be constructed on the hill above the spring, the entire district could be supplied with the best of water. He said it would require a certain capital to undertake the proposition, but he felt confident that there would be a good income for the owner. "There are hundreds of campers who come here every summer," continued this party, "and they are willing to pay what is right and probably more in order to be supplied with water. In the winter time the main which would supply the campers could be easily shut off, and consequently there would be no trouble."

Farmers Complain
The farmers are complaining that the crop is poor this year, especially in the vegetable line. The tomatoes are plentiful as well as the cucumbers, but the former refuse to ripen up, while the latter are very small. There was a frost a couple of days ago and this has caused considerable damage to the crop.

After the Selectmen
The selectmen of Dracut are certainly catching it this year. The last "kicking" to be heard is on the precinct question, and some of the residents are very indignant and are asking if it is really worth while attending the town meeting and vote upon certain questions if the town officials are going to do as they please and completely ignore the vote taken at the meetings. It seems that at the last regular town meeting it was voted to divide the town into precincts, one at Dracut Centre, one at Collinsville, another at the Navy Yard and the fourth in the Kenwood district, but that is all the road it did the voters, for it seems that the matter has been entirely forgotten by the selectmen who it is said are supposed to do the work. One man in conversation with the writer stated this morning that these precincts would be a great relief for all concerned in town affairs. As it is now, for principles or divisions the voters are forced to go to the Centre in order to cast their vote, and in so doing some are forced to lose a couple of hours of their time, while if the town is divided into precincts, as it was voted, everybody would find it much easier to vote, and the consequence would be that the vote would be much larger.

More complaints are being heard and some very strenuous, too, on the actions of the county commissioners' Lowell and Methuen. The work was to have been started on Sept. 1, but as yet nothing has been done, and many of the residents along the road were notified some time ago to get a their coal as quickly as possible for the road was to be closed a couple of weeks later, but as it is there is no change and he it said that the road is about the worst of its kind for miles around.

While the writer was looking over the place this morning a little above McMonmon's nursery, a large touring car came down the road at a moderate rate of speed. Suddenly it struck a deep hole and the shaking up the occupants of the machine received nearly threw them out. One woman sitting in the rear seat was thrown forcibly on the back of the seat.

There are hundreds of automobiles going over the road daily and it is a puzzle that many are not smashed before reaching the Methuen line.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS WON

YRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The woman suffragists have won the first victory of the progressive state convention that is to be held here tomorrow. Having succeeded in incorporating a suffrage plank in the platform, several ardent suffragists have left the city and their places have been taken by others interested in social and industrial reforms.

Ten per cent of the 1500 delegates to the assembly will be women, according to Chairman Hotchkiss. They will be accorded equal privileges with the men and will have places on the state committee.

FIVE MEN INJURED

House That Was Being Moved Broke Down at Pawtucket and One Man May Die

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 4.—Five men were seriously injured, one of whom may die, and a woman narrowly escaped being burned when a two-story house at 277 Pleasant street which was being moved up on jacks broke down today and landed the men beneath.

The injured are Joseph Masse, Geo. Abrahams and Peter Trombly, bruised and cut, Frank Locklin and Joseph Debeaux, cut and injured internally. The latter may die. One of the jacks gave way, causing the house to lurch forward fully 15 feet. All the injured were taken to the Memorial hospital. Mrs. John O'Neil, a tenant in the fallen house, escaped being burned when a stove was hurled across the room. The fire department was called and rendered aid in rescuing the men.

Nicaragua's Revolution Claims the Limelight and is Keeping Uncle Sam Quite Busy

With courage and a presidential campaign on his hands, not only has Uncle Sam been unable to take a vacation, but he has been obliged to add to his chores by doing police duty in the Caribbean and the Pacific. First it was the Cuban rebels, then the malcontents in Nicaragua, that made it necessary for the navy to "take up the white man's burden" in those Latin American republics, whose political quarrels, as hot as their climate, have again led to revolution.

The landing of bluejackets and marines from the gunboat Annapolis at Corinto, the principal Pacific port of Nicaragua, was requested by the government itself, which admitted its inability to spare for the protection of American property any of the forces with which it was operating against the rebels under Generals Zueñiga and Mena. The first of these is in general command of the rebels who call themselves Liberales; the second is a former minister of war.

Nicaragua traces most of her recent troubles to the ambitions of Jose Zueñiga, who ruled the country despotically for sixteen years and was deposed from the presidency and sent into exile in 1910, through the intervention of Secretary Knox. This fierce and bloodthirsty dictator impoverished his country by wars of conquest, having the ambition to make himself the greatest force in Central America. After his downfall it was hoped that the country's shattered finances might be repaired through the refunding of the national debt and the conclusion of a treaty to be sanctioned by the United States government. But the treaty in accordance with which the loan was to be effected failed of ratification by the United States senate, and the financial embarrassments of the Diaz government provoked another revolution.

Not only Nicaragua, but the neighboring republic of Honduras, is in dire straits, partly on account of the failure of crops, but largely because of the loss of men in both countries counted consistently upon the ratification of the loan conventions. The loan sought for Nicaragua was $1,000,000, and the Honduran syndicate and bank, the Whitney Central bank of New Orleans, declined to make it under the terms of the treaty. With their riches, however, the demoralization of commerce and industry set in at once, and it was then predicted that the two republics would be in dire straits within a few months. These predictions are now fulfilled by actual conditions in both countries, especially in Nicaragua, the latter republic the revolution, which it was feared would follow the rejection of the treaty, has begun under the leadership of General Mena, who called his followers into the field when his resignation was demanded.

So great is the need for outside help that the American National Red Cross has begun to purchase food supplies for destitute Nicaraguans, drawing upon the commissary department of the Smithsonian canal commission.

Nicaragua is the largest of the Central American republics with the exception of Guatemala. It once belonged to the short lived Mexican empire, but has since been a free nation. Its population of about half a million consists chiefly of Indians, negroes and people of mixed blood. The number of descendants of Spanish settlers is only 17,000. Although possessed of magnificent natural resources, the development of the country has lagged, the inhabitants seeming to prefer fighting to agriculture or manufacturing. Efforts to encourage immigration have been unsuccessful.

The capital, Managua, which was bombarded by the rebels, is the second city of the republic, with a population of 20,000. The soldiers of the regular and rebel armies are not much to look at, judged by American and European standards; but like most Latin Americans, they are good fighters, and the revolutionaries are often bloody.

For many years the chief interest of this country in Nicaragua lay in the possibility of building an interoceanic canal through its territory, by way of the San Juan river and Lake Nicaragua. Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, in 1812, obtained from the Nicaraguan government a charter to construct such a canal, but the project was soon abandoned because of the nonfulfillment of the conditions. It was the belief that the Nicaraguan route was the best that led to the conclusion with Great Britain of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, which secured to the United States the right to run the canal through the Mosquito protectorate, a British possession, on condition that the neutrality of the waterway be guaranteed. The Nicaraguan route, indeed, was in 1901 declared by a commission appointed by President McKinley to be "the most practicable and feasible" route on account of the financial difficulties in the way of acquiring the Panama franchise. It has been hinted that in case of European dissatisfaction with American management of the Panama canal, the Nicaraguan project may be revived, this time with the backing of foreign capital.

AN ALLEGED BURGLAR OFFICIALS OF PRISON

Arraigned on Charge of Say Unruly Convicts Breaking and Entering Have Been Cowed

MAN CHARGED WITH ASSAULT WAS HELD IN $400

Other Cases Heard in Police Court Today—Several Drunken Offenders Were Ordered to Pay Fines

Gilbert Miron appeared in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with breaking and entering the room of Lawrence Welch at 22 Lee street with intent to commit larceny. According to the story which the police learned, it is alleged that Miron entered through a window to Mr. Welch's room about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. The latter awoke, and finding a man in his room, reached out of bed and the first thing his hand came in contact with was a cup and he threw the missile at the intruder. The man, alleged to be Miron, made a quick get-away and in his hurry left his straw hat behind him and this furnished a clue which led to his arrest by Sgt. Giron, the latter going to Miron's house and capturing him. He was charged with breaking and entering, but the case did not come to trial, for at the request of the government it was continued until next Friday.

Assault Charged
James Grogans was in police court this morning on a charge of assault, and although John Hobbs, the man whom he is said to have assaulted, was not present in court, he was outside with his head bandaged up. It is said that the pair had been drinking in a hall in Middle street yesterday afternoon and after getting into an argument a fight started. John Hobbs happened to be present and gottings, it is said, threw Hobbs to the floor and kicked him. Hobbs was badly beaten, according to the reports received from the hospital and although it was expected that the case would be called this morning, it was postponed for one week, he being held under $100 bonds.

Changed His Mind
Michael Plinski was in court for being drunk and was ordered to pay a fine of $2. According to the interpreter the defendant is only 15 years of age, but the probation officer said that he was 17 years old and afterwards it was found that he was over age.

Suspended Sentence
Harvey Maile was charged with the larceny of a quart of milk and a bottle. He entered a plea of guilty and was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Drunken Offenders
Hattie Cody, charged with being drunk, was given a suspended sentence of three months.

John A. Welch was also given a suspended sentence of three months, but if he violates the rules he will go to jail instead of the reformatory.

There were two second offenders who were fined $5 each and one first offender was released after paying a fine of $2.

It is reported that the new vessel is to be armed with 14-inch guns the first tried in the British navy.

DIDN'T GET IT
Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Americans, was telling some friends the other day about an attempt he made to get Pitcher Alexander's seat last summer. He barked from the coaching lines, insinuating that Alex had a streak of color up his spine and that the young pitcher, in company with his hollow horned remnant, was about to cut the rope and begin a cloud shattering aviation. The Philadelphia stopped pitching for an instant, addressed Griffith and told him some sweet aphorisms that sent the veteran staggering to the bench, completely off-balance.

It isn't often that a pitcher can come back strong and upset the coacher. As a rule, a pitcher is a sort of sensitive plant with a delicate organization and nerves so finely strung that the least marks from the coachers will put him all to the weedy. Griffith was one pitcher whom the coachers couldn't rattle. Some years ago, when howled at by a famous New York player—now dead—chirped sweetly: "Would you mind pinning your ears back, old pal, so the folks in the stand can see the game?" and that particular coacher had no more to say. As a rule, though, the pitcher in an easy mark, especially if he is a juvenile, and his Aurora gives him blinding up the alley when the old, war-worn coachers get upon the trail.

PRISONER ESCAPED HE WAS CAUGHT LATER BY HAVERHILL POLICE OFFICER

He Advised Police to Shackle Him or He Would Escape Again

HAVERHILL, Sept. 4.—Alfred W. Fortescue escaped from the Salisbury beach police yesterday, was arrested here and taken back to Salisbury.

Fortescue was arrested Monday at the beach on the charge of breaking and entering and larceny and a similar charge was preferred against Henry Smith, the two young men having been found prowling around after Adolphus Bissett had reported that his store had been cut out and a large quantity of goods stolen.

The two men were placed in the lock-up and when the beach police went to the place yesterday morning they found only Smith.

Smith suffers from an affliction of the spine and several times this summer he has been removed to a hospital at Newburyport, where he puzzled physicians by sleeping long stretches. He was under one of these spells yesterday morning or else Fortescue says, he would have escaped with the latter.

Fortescue did not tell how he got away from the lockup, but it is supposed that he picked the lock. He informed Inspector Griffin when arrested that when he awoke yesterday morning he decided not to wait any longer in the lockup and he thought he would give Smith a chance to get away. He says he found Smith fast asleep, evidently suffering from one of his sleeping spells, and being unable to arouse him he made a bolt for it.

Due to Newburyport by train, he came from the prison at this city yesterday and was walking about the streets when accosted by Inspector Griffin, the local police having been informed of the escape of a prisoner by the Salisbury authorities.

The Salisbury beach police sent after Fortescue yesterday afternoon and he returned to the lockup handcuffed after the prisoner had warned his captors that he would break jail again if they did not put shackles on him.

port the children, but that he held to a belief that resulted in starving them. Within the last three years two of his children have died, and it is thought that lack of care and inadequate food may have had something to do with their death.

MORE NEW INDUSTRIES

Board of Trade is in Touch With Concerns That May Locate Here

Secretary Murphy of the Lowell board of trade is elated over the coming of new industries and he feels that other concerns with which the board of trade is in touch at the present time will also locate in Lowell. He says that the new concern, to be known as the Lowell Petroleum Manufacturing company, will be started within the week and while the industry is beginning on a small scale he believes that it will grow to be a big industry within a year or two. The new ribbon factory, located in one of the mills of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., is developing a very comfortable business and employing a goodly number of hands though it started only two weeks ago.

CHILDREN STARVING

Man Sentenced to House of Correction For Keeping His Little Ones Without Food

BROCKTON, Sept. 4.—Louis E. Watkins of Bridgewater was arrested Saturday on the charge of having wilfully neglected his four children, was yesterday sentenced to a year in the house of correction in the Brockton police court. His children, who were found in a half starved condition in his home, the "House of Mystery," were taken in charge by the state board of charity.

According to evidence given against Watkins by Frank L. Barron of the Bridgewater police and Cheney G. Jones, an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the man had confined his children in his house and had given them almost nothing to eat. Notes were written by the little ones and lowered from the second story window, beseeching passersby to send them food, even if it was nothing more than dry bread.

It is said that he was able to sup-

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

The city of Lowell is on the eve of a new era that will make her one of the most beautiful in New England outside Boston. The movement for a more beautiful Lowell has already shown itself in the public park system and from an architectural standpoint the evidences of this evolution are visible at Merrimack square. This square, the business centre of Lowell, will soon be one of the most attractive to be found in the state outside Boston. We shall look gratified if the new Sun building and the Chalfoux building adjoining will only serve to get other real estate owners started to put up modern fire proof buildings. There are many excellent sites for such buildings and we are confident they will be utilized in the near future.

In the next ten years, we expect an advance in the construction of steel buildings, that will give Lowell a metropolitan air, and silence the croakers who have been belittling everything in our city. Those who visit other Massachusetts cities can realize how far Lowell is superior to most of them and in the next few years she will out-distance them still further, not only by the erection of first-class buildings, but by increasing the excellence of her streets, the beauty of her parks, by clearing off many of the old shacks that stand as an eyesore, handed down from the past generation and testifying to the lack of enterprise and public spirit on the part of the owners. Building Inspector Connor has done good work in condemning some of these buildings but he has not done enough in that line. There are scores of others that should be torn down to give place to modern structures that would not only improve the appearance of the locality but also the sanitary conditions.

What we want now is a renaissance not only in our business and office buildings, but in our tenement blocks and ordinary dwellings, so that the dilapidated structures for which the owners try to charge a rental, may give place to new and up-to-date homes in which the beauty of simplicity, proportion and fitness will stand out as prominently as did the opposite qualities in the older buildings.

ROOSEVELT'S CAMPAIGN METHODS

Colonel Roosevelt says Archibald shandered Mr. Bliss, now dead, in saying that the Standard Oil company contributed $100,000 to the 1904 campaign. In this statement it is not clear that Roosevelt is wrong? The country believes Archibald's sworn statement when he says his company contributed a large amount because it was then and for many years before the custom.

Again the people of this country do not believe Roosevelt when he says he did not know of any such contribution being received until a short time before election or after the money was spent. His appeal to Harriman for money in that campaign helps such statements. In a letter to Sydney Webster, Mr. Harriman made this clear when he said:

"About a week before the election in the autumn of 1904, when it looked certain that the state ticket would go democratic and was doubtful as to Roosevelt himself, the president, sent me a request to go to Washington to confer upon the political conditions in New York state.

"I complied and he told me he understood the campaign could not be successfully carried on without sufficient money, and asked if I would help them in raising the necessary funds, as the national committee, under the control of Chairman Cortelyou, had utterly failed in obtaining them."

Harriman is dead but his words here quoted are believed by the masses without question. Mr. Bliss is dead but he did not leave such a definite statement of his dealings with Roosevelt.

The people believe the sworn statement of Mr. Archibald that he gave $100,000 to the Roosevelt campaign and that his company was asked for $150,000 more. The latter charge is in line with the plaint of Col. Roosevelt to Harriman relative to the scarcity of the funds. The colonel once said if he were quoted without his permission, he would pronounce the whole thing a lie. In the present case he is charged with something discreditable and he follows the same policy of pronouncing the charge utterly false and not only that, but he pours the vials of his wrath upon the heads of those who make the charge.

THE TIDE OF IMMIGRATION

More than a million aliens came to this country in the year ending June 30, 1912, according to the statistics collected by the department of commerce and labor. These were divided into two classes, immigrant and non-immigrant aliens. The latter numbering over 178,000, consisted of first-class passengers, many of whom intended to take up a residence here. The total number admitted is 40,000 less than the number of arrivals in the previous year. The largest number admitted in any one year was 1,285,349 in 1908, the next highest in 1906, was the number was 1,100,734, while in 1910 the total was 1,041,570 and in 1905, only 1,028,190.

It is plain that without the tide of immigration, the development of the country would have been less rapid. The influx of foreigners has a tendency to increase the population more rapidly than the food supply of the country increases and thereby to raise the cost of living. In fact, this is really what has happened, and it shows the necessity of directing the stream of immigration to the agricultural districts where the new comers will assist in extending the area under productive cultivation.

THE VERMONT VERDICT

The verdict from Vermont is certainly cheering to the democratic party because it shows that the voters of that state are not likely to be stampeded by the Bull Moose cult. The republican majority has been overcome and the election of governor is thus thrown into the republican legislature. The gain of 3500 in the democratic vote in favor of the fact that there were five candidates for governor is quite significant as presaging a democratic victory in November.

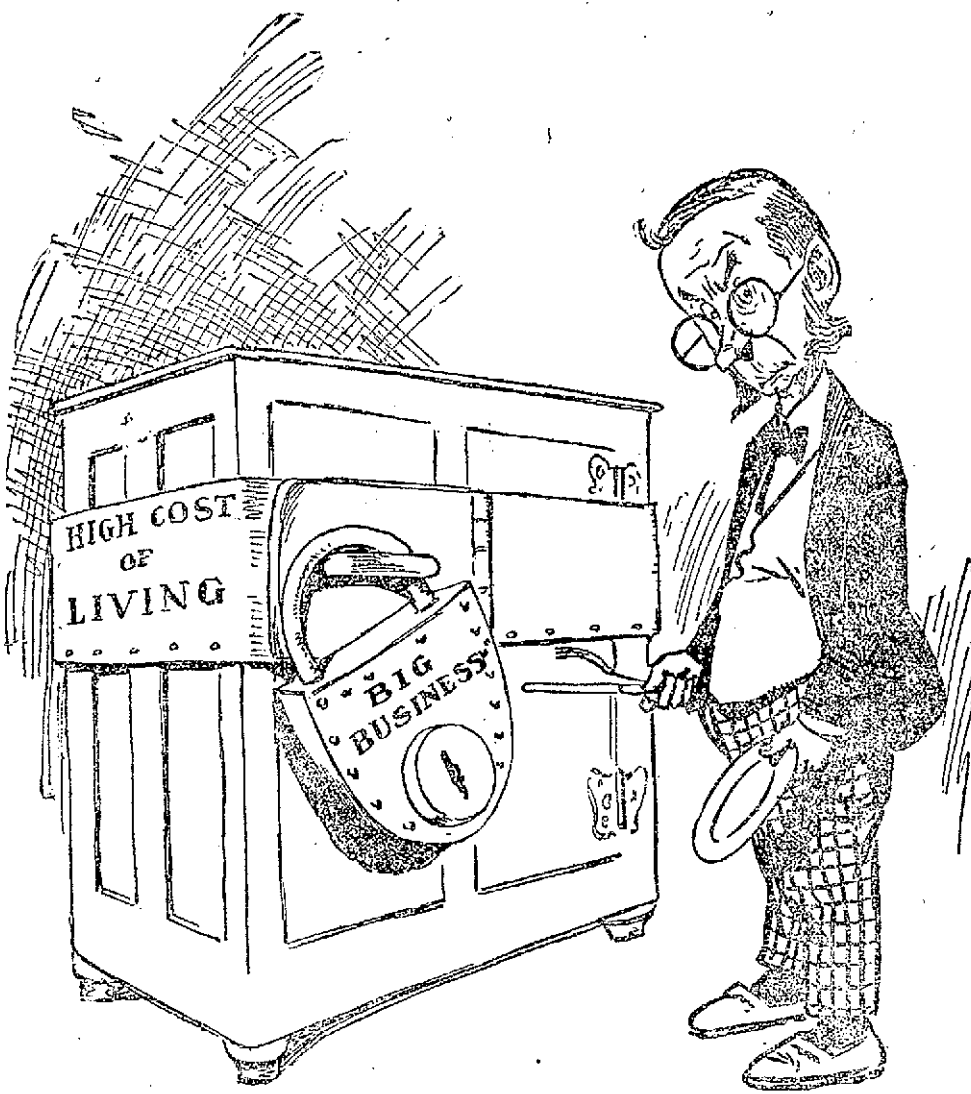

The one satisfying feature of the situation is, that in this election there is an assurance that the voters cannot be led into the Bull Moose camp by the appeals of Roosevelt. It is a proof of popular sanity that can be relied upon to assert itself in other states as well as in Vermont. The democratic party is solid for Wilson; it is gaining new accessions daily and the divided opposition will give that party an opportunity to win victories such as it has not had for many years. Roosevelt, therefore, in spite of all his vagaries is likely to do good in helping to roll up a great democratic victory in the November election.

The Roosevelt rejoinder addressed to Senator Clapp is so long that few papers can print it and few people could take the trouble to wade through it. To do so would be a waste of time for it offers nothing new. It is only a volume of words like the chaff from a winnowing machine. It is a case in which Roosevelt has failed in trying to justify his use of the shorter and sadder word.

The Lawrence dynamite plot is the marvel of the hour. District Attorney Pelletier is determined to push the case without mercy, while the federal authorities are also investigating to determine how far the federal statutes were violated.

The milk station at Salem boasts that it did not lose a single baby fed with modified milk during the summer. That is probably the tale that all can tell unless the babies were far gone in cholera infantum before they were brought to the station.

The city of Lowell is on the eve of a new era that will make her one of the most beautiful in New England outside Boston. The cities are few that can capture a league pretinent two years in succession.

"HOW LONG, O LORD, HOW LONG?"

Seen and Heard

During his first curacy a clergyman found the ladies of the parish entirely too helpful. Such a storm of petty squabbles arose from their over-zealousness to help that in despair he gave up the place. Not long afterward he met his successor.

"How are you getting on with the ladies?" asked the escaped curate.

"Oh, very well," was the answer. "There's safety in numbers."

"I found it in Exodus," was the quick reply.

A Leavenworth business man found a large tin coal stove in his basement. He called a junk dealer and asked him, "How much?"

"$1.50 and the owner's strategic want," said $2, chiefly for fun. They haggled awhile, and the second hand dealer departed, stoveless. "He'll be back," said the merchant.

In half an hour the junk man returned and offered $1.75, which was refused. Then a bright idea struck the junk artist. He brought out $1.50 and jingling the coins temptingly, said:

"Tell you what I do. I give you $2 for that stove, and charge you fifty cents to haul him away."

An Iowa correspondent writes: "In front of the house on the roadside there is so much poison ivy that the grass will not grow. I tried to grub it out and was laid up for three weeks with the poison. Now is there anything that would kill it by spraying, or can you give me any plan to get rid of it?"

The Ohio experiment station says: "I spraying with a common salt solution made by dissolving common salt in water at the rate of three pounds to a gallon is very effective. It is recommended that spraying be repeated every three or four weeks till the vines are dead. Another method is the use of kerosene by the United States department."

ment of agriculture, which consists of putting a teaspoonful of concentrated sulphuric acid on the stems every week or so in the spring. If a man can be found who is not affected with the poison ivy, it will pay him to thoroughly grub out the plants. Anyone who has much work to do around poison ivy should keep in stock lotion made by dissolving sugar of lead in 50 per cent alcohol. It is claimed that such a lotion will, if put on after one has come in contact with the poison ivy, dissolve the poison which causes the trouble.

Down in Fowler, Kan., a few nights ago an evangelist who was conducting meetings, became very much exasperated by reason of folks coming in late and because the congregation turned around to look whenever there was a new advent. On this special night a man came in late and everyone turned and stared.

Then the evangelist told a story: "A few years ago I was out on the prairie riding my broncho, and as I passed a prairie dog's den I saw the funniest looking thing with such big, stary eyes that I got down to investigate. I began walking around that hole and as I walked that evil eyes kept fixed on me, but his body remained stationary, until, would you believe it, after I had walked around three or four times that owl's head dropped off."

"Some of these nights," the prophet moralized, "you folks will be looking under the seats for your heads."

THE BEACON

(The following poem has been attributed to Thomas Moore and printed under the title "The Lighthouse," but it is not to be found in Moore's poems.)

The scene was more beautiful, far, to my eye

Than if day in its pride had arrayed it;

The land-breeze blew mild, and the azure arched sky

Looked pure as the spirit that made it.

The murmur rose soft as I silently gazed

On the playful waves' shadowy motion;

From the dim distant isle till the lighthouse here blazed,

Like a star in the midst of the ocean.

No longer the joy of the sailor-boy's breast

Was heard in his wildly-breathed numbers;

The seagull had flown to her wave-fingered nest,

The fisherman sunk to his slumbers.

One-moment I looked from the hill's gentle slope;

All hushed was the billows' commotion;

And o'er them the lighthouse looked lovely as hope.

That star on life's tremulous ocean

The time is long past, and the scene is afar,

Yet, when my head rests on its pillow,

Will memory sometimes rekindle the star?

That blazed on the breast of the billow,

In life's closing hour, when the trembling soul flies,

And death stills the heart's last emotion,

Oh, then may the seraph of Mercy arise

Like a star on eternity's ocean!

MOOSE CARNIVAL

ATTRACTED LARGE ATTENDANCE YESTERDAY AND LAST NIGHT

The Hippodrome Crowded All the Time —The Willard Family Presents Musical Entertainment

There is always something doing when there is a good show offered in this city and yesterday afternoon and last night, despite the unfavorable weather there was a large attendance at the Moose carnival at Washington park.

Heralded by a brass band and a powerful electric organ, Ferrar's animal arena gave its performance. A large crowd bent on pleasure making turned out and everybody seemed to be in a happy frame of mind. The many different tents almost completely fill up the large space contained within the old ball grounds leaving but little room for the large crowd which thronged the midway all day yesterday, but the crowd was orderly and good natured, and all went along without mishap, all of the shows being well patronized. The midway presents a gay and attractive appearance and there is plenty to see at the different shows.

The Side Shows

The usual midway side shows were present with their tented booths, and they will be there for the entire week. From the moment one arrives on the carnival grounds the fun commences, the noise of the bands and organs, combined with the shouting of the side show exhibitors, make the place a veritable pandemonium. There are hot dog men, pop, pen men, coin dodgers, Sappho dips and fortune tellers as well as the knock 'em down stalls and a hundred other similar games and fair ground pastimes. There is the smallest horse show, which is indeed a marvelous exhibit. There is an Egyptian theatre, where native dances and ceremonies are shown at each performance.

There is a merry go round and an ocean wave, both of which worked overtime with their heavy freight of laughing men, women and children. At the big hippodrome, a very creditable performance is given by a clever troupe of trained dogs, ponies and monkeys with the funny antics of Maude, the famous kicking mule, kept the large audience in one continual roar of laughter. It is at the hippodrome that we see the marvelous Willard family with their pleasing musical entertainment which seemed to be well liked last night.

Harry Six, the dare devil high diver performed the breath taking deed of plunging head foremost from a height, declared to be 125 ft into a tank of water containing containers but four feet of water. This performance was loudly applauded by the large crowd which stood breathless as the daring diver sped through the air like an arrow and, with a loud splash entered the waters in the tank below.

The Animal Show

Ferrar's animal show is the main feature of the midway and is certainly true to all of its advance assertions. Those who have not had an opportunity of visiting the big Coney Island animal arena will thoroughly enjoy the wonderful performance given at this show which includes some clever work on the part of both the trainers and their several groups of savage pets.

The feature acts were, Herr Bertina, a darling young German trainer, who works a big group of maned lions and tigers and makes them go through all sorts of strange tricks, named Ben, a big man eating black maned lion, a big man eating black maned lion, a big man eating black maned lion, and for a time it seemed as though a king of the forest, a huge and startling brute, who amazed himself by making savage attacks at his trainer, would do some serious damage. Herr Bertina, however, with a whip in one hand and a loaded revolver in the other, finally succeeded in subduing the ferocious monster and made his royal highness gravel in the majesty of his feet. Miss Flora, a good looking young Belgian girl also gave a wonderful exhibition with a mixed group of wild beasts and was loudly applauded as she mastered the growling brutes and made them do her every bidding.

HARRIET L. BOUTELLE

Has Been Chosen Secretary of Y. W. C. A., to Succeed Miss Bacheider, Who Held Office

Miss Harriet L. Boutelle, who is a graduate of the secretaries' training school in New York and previously from Holyoke, where she acted as general secretary, has succeeded Miss Alice Bacheider in the office of general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city.

Miss Boutelle, who is also a graduate of Mt. Holyoke college, has a wide knowledge of the workings of the association, gained from experience, and she has a certificate of approval from the national board of the Y. W. C. A. The classes of the various branches will open early in October and will be a group of snarling leopards also astonished the crowds with his clever work he being compelled to do a deal of coaxing and whipping before he could get the spiteful cats to obey his commands. At the climax he grasped one of the brute by the throat, and stretching its mouth wide open places his own head within the creature's rapacious jaws.

There will be a meeting of the River-look club at the camp tonight and there is a special reason why every member is urged to be present.

Birthday Party

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Quinn of 85 Hall street, in honor of their son, Master William, who observed his 14th birthday anniversary club from Lynn arrived in Lowell at 4.30 p. m. and from that time on a general good time was enjoyed. The Acme orchestra of Lowell favored with pleasing selections.

On behalf of the Mohawk club Mr. Neator presented Master William a beautiful silver ring. Refreshments were served.
